

Chipotle rallies ahead of debut report from new CEO

SAN FRANCISCO (Reuters) - Shares of Chipotle Mexican Grill (CMG.N) rallied on Wednesday ahead of the company's first quarterly report under a new chief executive hired to turn around the struggling burrito chain. Chipotle has surged 36 percent since announcing in February that it hired Brian Niccol from Yum Brands Inc's (YUM.N) Taco Bell unit as CEO to win back customers lost after a series of food safety lapses. Wall Street's recent optimism has focused on what Niccol is likely to do, rather than on Chipotle's performance during his short time at the helm. Niccol, known for his menu and marketing prowess, could refresh Chipotle's limited offerings by, for instance, adding quesadillas, nachos or margaritas, and he could streamline operations across the chain's 2,408 restaurants. He replaced Chipotle founder Steve Ells, who failed to put Chipotle back on track following outbreaks of E.coli, Salmonella and norovirus in 2015 that sickened hundreds of U.S. customers and crushed sales. The stock has lost half of its value from record highs just before those mishaps. Niccol, who will lead his first quarterly conference call with analysts on Wednesday after the stock market closes, took the helm on March 5, with under a month remaining in the quarter. "It seems unlikely that the quarter really will matter here as the focus will be entirely on new CEO Brian Niccol's thoughts," Quo Vadis Capital President John Zolidis wrote in a client note. MSNBC on Tuesday, adding that such searches by the Federal Bureau of Investigation indicate the possibility that a crime was committed.

傳統的癌症治療手段如化學療法、放射療法等，都是針對人體內快速生長的細胞起作用。因此，在抑制癌細胞的同時，會不可避免的對人體內其他一些健康的細胞，如發囊細胞、口腔黏膜細胞、腸胃粘膜細胞等等造成傷害，進而產生脫髮、惡心、嘔吐等等的副作用。使得許多病患承受了除腫瘤外附加的痛苦，因此，如何在對抗癌症的同時保持患者的生活品質，已經成為當今癌症治療研究的核心問題之一。

日本立川大介腫瘤醫生，運用整合療法，將傳統治療手段與激活患者自身免疫相結合，在多年的臨床運用中取得了諸多成效。此次，立川大介醫生受邀於海之滴，前來美國舉辦癌症整合治療講座。

Phillips 66 Partners moving ahead with West Texas pipeline system

By Molly Glentzer

Phillips 66 Partners plans to build a new pipeline system that will carry crude from West Texas to markets in Corpus Christi, Sweeny and Freeport in South Texas, the company said.

The Houston pipeline operator said it received enough commitments from oil producers in the Permian Basin to move forward with the construction of the Gray Oak Pipeline, which could pipe up to 700,000 barrels a day of crude starting by the end of next year.

The company, a master limited partnership formed by refining giant Phillips 66, said late Tuesday the pipeline system's long-haul takeaway capacity could be expanded to about 1 million barrels a day if it becomes fully subscribed. The pipeline would connect to a new marine terminal that Houston's Buckeye Partners, Phillips and Andeavor are building, with an initial storage capacity of 3.4 million barrels.

The company will hold a second open season for potential binding agreements with oil companies beginning on Friday. Phillips owns 75 percent of the pipeline; Andeavor owns 25 percent of the joint venture.

Pipelines lead to a ship being loaded at Kinder Morgan Energy Partners terminal in Pasadena, which will be expanded as part of a $240 million project the company announced Oct. 14, 2014. The expansion includes 2.1 million barrels of storage between Kinder Morgan's Pasadena and Galena Park terminals, and an additional dock for ocean-going vessels at the Galena Park facility. Memorial Park restoration gets a $70 million boost

Super-philanthropists Nancy and Rich Kinder, who have already donated $106 million to various greenspace projects across Houston in the past decade or so, have offered the Memorial Park Conservancy a $70 million grant, the largest single parks gift in the city's history. Mayor Sylvester Turner announced the proposed gift during a press briefing Wednesday before the conservancy was to present an amended agreement to its master plan to city council's quality of life committee. The matter will then proceed to full council for a vote next week. The Kinders' grant, through their Kinder Foundation, will be "top-loaded" to fast-track the largest, priority projects of a master plan designed by the landscape architecture firm Nelson Byrd Woltz and approved by the city in 2015. The goal is to finish those projects within ten years.

Telecom carriers dominate distribution of mobile phones in the United States and Huawei is struggling to make inroads into the market. Photo: AFP

The collapse of a deal in which Huawei Technologies was to distribute its smartphones through US carrier AT&T will threaten Sino-US trade ties – and Beijing should consider “countermeasures” if the situation escalates, experts and a former Chinese commerce official said.

Shenzhen-based Huawei was due to announce its partnership with AT&T in Las Vegas on Tuesday, but the deal was cancelled at the last minute – a major setback for the Chinese company’s global expansion.

Huawei's U.S. market dreams dashed.

It was called off because of “political pressure”, US-based online tech news site The Information reported, citing sources. AT&T was pressured to cancel the deal after members of the US Senate and House Intelligence committees sent a letter on December 20 to the Federal Communications Commission, citing concerns about Huawei’s plans to launch consumer products through a major US telecoms carrier, the report said.

The abrupt cancellation of the deal is the latest sign of tensions between China and the US over trade and investment, with Washington calling for trade actions against China and tightening screening of Chinese companies, especially in the hi-tech sector.

Huawei is the second Chinese company facing a serious setback in the United States in a week, after the US Committee on Foreign Investment rejected Chinese firm Ant Financial’s takeover bid for US-based money transfer firm MoneyGram, citing national security concerns. Ant Financial is an affiliate of Alibaba, which
