Buttigieg takes lead, Biden lags in Democrats' first 2020 results

DES MOINES, Iowa (Reuters) - Pete Buttigieg took a narrow lead in the first batch of long-delayed results from the chaotic Iowa Democratic Party caucuses on Tuesday, and former Vice President Joe Biden trailed badly in fourth place with about 62% of precincts reporting.

U.S. Senator Bernie Sanders was a close second place and U.S. Senator Elizabeth Warren placed third in the first results, released nearly 21 hours after Iowans poured into more than 1,600 public locations to begin the five-month process of picking a challenger to Republican President Donald Trump.

In Tuesday's first results of state delegate equivalents, the data traditionally reported to determine the winner, Buttigieg, the former mayor of South Bend, Indiana, had 26.9%, Sanders had 25.1%, Warren 18.3% and Biden 15.6%. Senator Amy Klobuchar was fifth at 12.6%.

If elected, Buttigieg, 38, would be the first openly gay U.S. president. A military veteran, he served in Afghanistan before becoming mayor of South Bend, a city of 102,000 people.

Sanders, 78, was ahead in the popular vote, which is not used to determine the delegates who will cast ballots at the Democratic National Convention in July. An independent, Sanders calls himself a democratic socialist.

It was a clumsy start to voting. Officials blamed inconsistencies related to a new mobile app used for vote counting for the unusual delay in Iowa, the state that traditionally kicks off a U.S. presidential election campaign that culminates this year on Nov. 3.

The uncertainty enraged Democrats worried it would only strengthen Trump's bid for re-election and prompted some Democratic candidates' campaigns to question whether the results would be legitimate.

"As leader of the party I apologize deeply for this," Iowa State Party Chairman Troy Price told reporters. "We've been working day and night to make sure these results are accurate."

Some Democrats have long complained that the largely white farm state has an outsized role in determining the party's presidential nominee.

'UNMITIGATED DISASTER'

Republicans asked how Democrats could run the country if they could not conduct a caucus, while Trump mocked the Democrats on Twitter, calling the delay an "unmitigated disaster."

Trump took a swipe at the Democrats, 11 of whom are contenders in the state-by-state battle to face him in November. "Nothing works, just like they ran the Country," he tweeted. While Republicans pounced on the problems, their party has its own history of presidential election chaos in Iowa. On the night of the party's 2012 caucuses, Mitt Romney was declared to have won by only eight votes. But two weeks later, the party announced that Rick Santorum had actually won by 34 votes. Romney went on to be the nominee. Before the Iowa results were released, campaign aides for Biden cited gross failures in the caucuses. "What we're saying is there are some inconsistencies, that the process, the integrity, is at stake. And the Iowa Democratic Party needs to check that data, check it again, check it a third time, check it a fourth time, because it's important to get it right," Biden campaign senior adviser Symone Sanders told reporters.

"It looks like a disorganized mess," said Jessica Leonard, 41, who runs a food truck in Winterset, Iowa, and normally votes Democratic.

FALSE START

After more than a year of campaigning and more than $800 million in spending, the results in Iowa had been expected to provide some answers for Democrats desperately trying to figure out how to beat the businessman-turned-president. But the Democratic candidates had already departed Iowa and turned their attention to the next contest in New Hampshire on Feb. 11 before the first results had even been released.

China virus claims second life off mainland, Macau casinos told to close

HONG KONG/BEIJING (Reuters) - The coronavirus outbreak claimed its first life in Hong Kong on Tuesday, compounding the international financial centre's problems after anti-government protests, and Macau, the world's biggest gambling playground, urged casinos to shut their doors.

The victim in Hong Kong was a 39-year-old man with an underlying illness who had visited China's Wuhan city, the epicentre of the outbreak now under virtual quarantine.

It was the second death from the new coronavirus outside mainland China. A man died in the Philippines last week after visiting Wuhan, the first virus-related overseas fatality.

State TV late on Tuesday reported 3,156 new cases in China's central Hubei province, as well as 65 new deaths, bringing the total to 479 deaths in Hubei. Wuhan is the capital of Hubei.

Thousands of medical workers in Hong Kong, a semi-autonomous region of China, held a second day of strikes to press for complete closure of borders with the mainland after three checkpoints were left open.

"We're not threatening the government, we just want to prevent the outbreak," said a nurse taking part in the strike.

On the financial front, global and Chinese markets rose, with both Europe and metals enjoying their best sessions of the year after Shanghai's main market lost nearly $400 billion the previous day.

But in the latest corporate hit, Hyundai Motor (005380.KS) said it would gradually suspend production at South Korean factories because of supply chain disruptions.

Prior to the latest figures from Hubei, total infections in mainland China had climbed to 20,438. Nearly 200 cases have been reported across roughly two dozen countries, Hong Kong and Macau.

Macau, also a special administrative region of China lying across the Pearl River estuary from Hong Kong, said it had asked all casino operators to suspend operations for two weeks to help prevent the coronavirus spreading.

Macau's chief executive, Ho Iat Seng, made the announcement as the former Portuguese colony, whose glittering casinos draw hundreds of thousands of gamblers from across the globe, reported 10 confirmed cases of the virus and imposed tight restrictions on movements in and out of the territory.

Thailand's tally of infections jumped to 25, the highest outside China, while Singapore's rose to 24.

副业工资3000 副业20000

不发展副业，你还混什么职场

最近，网上有一个话题很火：“有一份副业是一种什么样的体验？”

很多网友表示自己想发展副业，都在等待合适的机会。

有一位网友的回答吸引了我的注意：

年龄23，性别女，工作行政，工资3000，副业20000，没辞职，很爽。

后来翻到她的主业，才发现其中的真相：

毕业后，她进了一家外企做前台，工作还算轻松，基本上不用加班，5.30到点就走，工资也不高，每个月3000左右。

当时她有一个升为财务主管助理的机会，但是姑娘放弃了，理由是不喜欢这种枯燥刻板的工作，不喜欢计算表格，不喜欢和数字打交道。

刚开始别人都对她有误解，都觉得她是一个没有事业心的女孩，没有目标，没有追求。

而事实是，他们对姑娘的判断都错了。

这位姑娘在上学期就对剧本非常感兴趣，类似于密室大逃脱这样的剧本，以前没事的时候就喜欢自己创作。

上大学时就通过自己创作的剧本

获得了一个学期的学费和生活费，基本上已经脱离了父母。

之所以选择做行政，一方面是为了给自己一个强制性的约束，让自己能够坚持每天早起，每天保持上班的状态；另一方面就是因为行政工作轻松，不需要加班，可以给她更多的时间创作。

现在她基本上不需要为生活发愁，基本上实现了旅游自由。

正是因为拥有副业，姑娘对生活拥有了掌控权，她的人生也有了更多选择。

所以啊，如果你有才华的话，何不把她发展成一份副业呢？

前几天跟老同学老张聊天，我发现她的生活状态和她的精气神都非常好。

细聊之下我才知道，她靠搞副业基本上实现了火锅自由，这也意味着，她再也不用战战兢兢的看老板脸色工作了。

以前的她，每次跟我聊天状态都特别焦虑，总是一脸愁容，既纠结又想辞职，总觉得生活无望。

可自从有了副业之后，相当于在工作之外有一份保本收入，她内心有了安全感，很多事情看得更通透了，很多好机会也随之找上门来。

老张告诉我，自己都快30岁了，如果还纯粹靠死工资过活，不“斜杠”一下，搞点副业，拥有除工作意外的赚钱门路，心里很没有安全感。

而且自己还这么年轻，真的不想哪天被职场淘汰，被时代抛弃。

确实，拥有副业收入，不仅可以帮助我们建立安全感，规避职场不确定性，还可以帮助我们拓展收入来源，弥补现有工作带来的不满。

我们在工作时间的工作目的，是按照公司的规定完成工作，并让公司满意，这其中就包括很多重复性、低价值甚至是无意义的工作。

所以，在工作之余做自己的事业，可以给予我们存在感，给自己一份价值保障，——我是有用的。

最后，最重要的一点，就是工作可以丰富我们的关系网，当你在一个行业处于危机的境地时，拥有一份副业可以拓展新的关系网，即可以不用放弃我们的核心机会。

这样一来，不仅加强了我们的核心能力，也让我们变得更有价值。

1、时间空余 + 有兴趣爱好的人

很多工作都非常空闲，比如公司前台，不需要加班的公司，压力小的工作等等。

以上类型的工作不占用你大量的经历，不需要你每天围着这些工作转。如果你有这样的条件，不去做副业真的可惜了。

我看见有很多人，因为不需要加班，精神压力小，一下班不是和朋友唱K，喝酒聚餐就是打游戏，看剧。

好好的时间全部都溜走了，你要知道，你浪费的，是白花花的时间啊，而时间是一个人最宝贵的财富。

你有玩的时间，不如利用有限的时间去做更有价值的事情。

即使是学习一门技能都行。去年，后台有读者问我：“我是一位初中政治老师，平时空余时间比较多，爱好画画，该如何发展副业？”

我告诉他，你可以去画插画呀，等到你画画的技术练得炉火纯青之后，你可以去做画画培训师，不占用你大量的经历.....

前几天，他给我发消息，说自己现在已经是一家艺术培新机构的预约培训师了，谢谢你。

没想到，我随便提了一句。这位老师行动力这么强，今年就实现了。

所以，如果你有时间，完全可以发展自己的副业。

我有一个朋友，图书编辑，她每天都用利用下班时间，或者是业余时间写文，帮别人写公号挣钱，后来她发现持续做这件事的价值，于是自己还起了公号。

在她的不断坚持之下，她有一篇文章火了，很多大号都开始转发她的文章，公号一夜之间增粉4000，自然而然的她就建立了个人品牌。

后来，她利用个人影响力，她不仅帮助公司买了更多的图书，而且自己还开了写作培训班。

只需要出售一份课程，就有上千的人来买，不需要她再耗费精力，不断地写文，不断地零散的出售自己的时间，这种收入模式，就是将自己的时间卖出去更多次，俗称睡后收入。

像朋友这样，主业能帮助副业，副业能影响主业，副业模式，也是非常不错的。

所以，如果你想发展自己的副业，可以从主业入手，主业做什么，业余时间就做什么，这样可以节省精力。

这世上，任何人都不可轻易相信，唯有自己相信自己。这世上的工作，没有一份是可以保你终身的，唯一能保全自己的，是自己。

Chinese Authorities Stress
More Medical Supplies Needed
To Support Epidemic Battle

Compiled And Edited By John T. Robbins, Southern Daily Editor

WUHAN, China — One week into a lockdown, anger and anxiety deepened in China on Thursday as the central province at the center of the coronavirus outbreak endured shortages of hospital beds, medical supplies and doctors. In a sign of growing frustration, a relative of a patient infected with the virus beat up a doctor at a hospital in Wuhan, the capital of Hubei Province, the state broadcaster CCTV reported on Thursday, citing the police. The man was accused of pulling and damaging the doctor's mask and protective clothing — potentially exposing him to the virus — after his father-in-law died in the hospital. The man was later detained. At the same time, hospitals in the region renewed pleas to the public for help to replenish their supplies, which were fast disappearing. The shortages have become especially severe in Huanggang, a city of seven million not far from Wuhan, where some medical staff members were wearing raincoats and garbage bags as shoe covers to protect against infection, according to Yicai, a financial news site. Amid growing unease, the World Health Organization declared a global health emergency, which acknowledges that the disease now represents a risk beyond China. Nations can then decide whether to shut their borders, cancel flights or screen people arriving at ports of entry. Late Thursday, the State Department urged Americans not to travel to China, issuing a Level 4 advisory, which represents the highest safety risk.

Also last Thursday, Chinese government agencies announced plans to issue subsidies of up to $43 per day to front-line medical workers and to reopen factories to boost production of medical supplies and protective gear. “We absolutely cannot let Huanggang become a second Wuhan,” Wang Xiaodong, the governor of Hubei Province, said at a news briefing on Wednesday. On Thursday evening, provincial leaders said at a news briefing that the director of Huanggang's health committee had been fired. Chinese authorities on Sunday stressed providing greater medical supplies support to central China's Hubei Province, particularly the key regions -- the city of Wuhan and its surrounding areas -- to help curb the epidemic caused by the novel coronavirus. Authorities in some provinces were urged to flexibly arrange their work for the epidemic battle and step up efforts to prevent and control the novel coronavirus outbreak and ensure market supply, said an official statement issued after a Sunday meeting of the leading group of the Communist Party of China (CPC) Central Committee on the prevention and control of the novel coronavirus outbreak.

Chinese Premier Li Keqiang, who is a member of the Standing Committee of the Political Bureau of the CPC Central Committee and also head of the leading group of the CPC Central Committee on the prevention and control of the novel coronavirus outbreak, presided over the meeting. Noting that great manpower and material resources support from all aspects has been delivered to Hubei in China's response to the novel coronavirus outbreak, the statement said that “the shortage of medical resources is still a prominent issue in Hubei.” The meeting underscored efforts to speed up the construction of hospitals to provide more beds, step up medical personnel support and organize more quality medical personnel in respiratory, intensive care and nursing fields from other provinces to support Hubei. Authorities stressed accelerating production resumption by manufacturers of medical supplies and protective items, with a priority to meeting the needs of Wuhan and other key areas in Hubei, and quickening efforts to make up for the shortage of key items such as medical face masks and protective clothing in Hubei, according to the statement.

The State Council has agreed that to help curb the outbreak in some provinces, while arrangements are made to ensure the timely return of workers to key posts, enterprises and projects that are of high importance to the virus battle, public services, national economy and people's wellbeing, flexible ways can be adopted to arrange people's work in other sectors, the statement said. The measure will help reduce the risk of virus spread by avoiding large-scale population movement after the Spring Festival holiday ends, it added. The meeting also stressed efforts from local authorities to ensure a stable supply of epidemic prevention and control materials and daily necessities. Wang Huning, a member of the Standing Committee of the Political Bureau of the CPC Central Committee and deputy head of the leading group, attended the meeting. ## Countries Worldwide Impose Travel Bans On Visitors From China

The travel bans run counter to advice from the World Health Organization.

Compiled And Edited By John T. Robbins, Southern Daily Editor

On almost every continent, countries have taken the dramatic step of closing their borders to most, if not all, flights from China, or to foreign visitors who've been to China or certain parts of it. With more than 300 now dead from the Wuhan coronavirus, the US, Israel, and a handful of other nations have imposed stringent restrictions on air travel. The World Health Organization has so far said that such limits on trade and travel aren't needed to control the spread of the virus. Below are the countries, territories and airlines that have travel restrictions on China.

These bans run counter to the official advice from groups such as the World Health Organization (WHO). Tedros Adhanom Ghebreyesus, the group's director-general, spoke out against bans of this sort: "The WHO doesn't recommend and actually opposes any restrictions for travel and trade or other measures against China," he said. He stressed that such restrictions often needlessly damage economies and encourage travelers to lie.

Country-By-Country Travel Restrictions In Place

Australia Australia will deny entry to anyone arriving from mainland China, except for Australian citizens, residents or their family members, and air crew. It has also warned against any travel to all of mainland China. Australia's largest airline Qantas Airways Ltd. will suspend services to mainland China from Feb. 9. Canada Canada advised citizens to avoid non-essential travel to China. Air Canada has halted flights to Beijing and Shanghai. The suspension is expected to last until Feb. 29. Egypt Egypt Air indefinitely suspended flights to mainland China. The airline connects to Hangzhou, Beijing and Guangzhou. Finland Finnair will cancel all flights to and from mainland China between Feb. 6 and Feb. 29. France France urged citizens not to travel to China. Air France will exit China until Feb. 9. Germany Lufthansa suspended services to China until Feb. 9. Hong Kong Hong Kong has barred residents of China's Hubei province, where the outbreak is centered, from entering the city. The government has appeared to open the door for more controls on travel from the mainland, with an official saying it could shorten opening times for ports, limit transportation and introduce laws to curb cross-border traffic. Cathay Pacific will cut the capacity of its flights to China by 50% or more through March. Indonesia Indonesia is temporarily banning flights to and from mainland China from Feb. 3 and won't allow those who have been there in recent weeks to enter or transit. The government has suspended free visa and visa-on-arrival services for Chinese citizens living in the mainland and called on Indonesians to temporarily stop traveling there. Indonesia has five domestic airlines flying to China: PT Garuda Indonesia, PT Citilink Indonesia, PT Lion Mentari Airlines, PT Sriwijaya Air and PT Batik Air Indonesia. India India said Chinese passport holders and those who reside in China who have electronic visas to India won't be able to enter. Air India and IndiGo have suspended flights between some Indian cities and China. Israel Israel will refuse entry to foreign nationals coming from China. Carrier El Al suspended flights to Beijing until March 25. Italy Italy suspended all flights from China, Hong Kong, Macau and Taiwan until Apr. 28. Japan Japan has urged its citizens not to travel to China. It has barred entry to people with symptoms of the coronavirus. Kenya Kenya Airways suspended flights to and from Guangzhou until further notice. Mongolia Mongolia closed its border with China until March 2. Morocco Royal Air Maroc suspended direct flights to China until Feb. 29. Myanmar Myanmar said it will suspend the issuance of visas-on-arrival for all visitors from China.

New Zealand New Zealand will deny entry to foreigners traveling from mainland China. The ban, effective Feb. 3, covers anyone who is traveling from or has transited through China, and will last up to 14 days. It has also raised its travel advice about all of mainland China to "do not travel," the highest level. Neth- erlands KLM suspended direct flights to some Chinese cities and reduced the number of weekly flights to Shanghai. North Korea North Korea shut its borders to visitors from China on Jan. 22. Oman Oman's aviation authority suspended all flights between the sultanate and China. Pakistan Pakistan stopped flights to Wuhan and Hubei, but will reopen other routes in mainland China. Philippines The Philippines widened a travel ban previously imposed on visitors from Hubei province to all of China, including Hong Kong and Macau, while prohibiting Filipinos from traveling to those areas. Qatar Qatar Airways is suspending flights to China starting from Feb. 3 until further notice. Russia Russia suspended visa-free tourist travel to China and temporarily blocked Chinese citizens from reaching Russia over the Mongolian border. It will also stop processing documents for Chinese nationals to enter Russia for jobs, along with permits to hire workers from China. Visa-free travel was part of an agreement the two nations worked out in 2018.

Rwanda RwandAir halted flights to and from China and will review the decision this month. Singapore Singapore blocked the entry and transit of people who had traveled to mainland China in the previous 14 days. Visas of China citizens to visit Singapore have been suspended, including those already issued. South Korea From Feb. 4, South Korea will temporarily ban foreigners who have visited or stayed in Hubei within 14 days of entering. Seoul will also suspend its no-visa favor for Chinese tourists to Jeju Island for now. South Korea is also suspending tourism to China. Korean Air is stopping flights to Wuhan until Feb. 22 and will reduce services on other mainland China routes. Air Seoul suspended flights indefinitely between Incheon and the Chinese cities of Zhangjiajie and Linyi. Spain Iberia Airways suspended its flight to Shanghai, the only route it operates to China, through February. Taiwan Taiwan slapped an entry ban to residents of Hubei as well as those from the southern Guangdong province. Mandarin Airlines suspended flights from Taiwan to Wuhan until the end of February. Tanzania Air Tanzania postponed its maiden February flights to China from Dar es Salaam. Turkey Turkish Airlines suspended flights to Beijing, Guangzhou, Shanghai and Xi'an until Feb. 9. U.K. British Airways halted daily routes to Beijing and Shanghai. Virgin Atlantic ceased flights to Shanghai for 14 days from Feb. 1

U.S. The U.S. is temporarily barring entry to foreign nationals who have visited China and pose a risk of spreading the illness, unless they are immediate relatives of U.S. citizens or permanent residents. Flights from China would be funneled through just seven U.S. airports. The State Department issued its highest level do-not-travel advisory for China. Delta Air Lines Inc. and American Airlines Group Inc. suspended all flights to China to as late as the end of April. United Airlines will suspend service to Beijing, Shanghai and Chengdu from Feb. 6. Vietnam Vietnam ordered companies to stop accepting Chinese workers returning to the country after the Lunar New Year holidays. The suspension also applies to foreign workers traveling through Chinese regions affected by the outbreak. (Courtesy <https://www.bloomberg.com/>)
