U.S. states press on with reopenings, markets boosted by virus vaccine potential

(Reuters) - Nearly all 50 U.S. states were at some stage of reopening on Monday as authorities eased restrictions imposed to contain the spread of the new coronavirus and stock markets opened higher on optimism about a potential vaccine trial.

Markets were also encouraged by Federal Reserve Chairman Jerome Powell's remarks over the weekend on a gradual economic recovery, and his affirmation that more monetary stimulus was on the way if required.

The patchwork approach to restarting business activity and easing social distancing restrictions has been shaped by political divisions and demographics in the United States, where nearly 1.5 million people have been infected and nearly 90,000 have died.

Despite the widespread if gradual revival of businesses and social life, only 14 states have met the federal government's for guidelines for lifting measures aimed at fighting the pandemic, according to a Reuters analysis.

The U.S. auto industry slowly returned to life on Monday, with some vehicle assembly plants reopening. Suppliers geared up to support a sector that employs nearly 1 million people.

On a chilly and damp morning, hundreds of workers at Fiat Chrysler Automobile's (FCA) truck plant in Warren, Michigan, began lining up before 4 a.m. to start the 5 a.m. shift. Signs overhead read: "Let's restart."

"I'm a little nervous," said Larry Smith, 53, of New Baltimore, who works on wheel alignment away from the assembly line. "They made all the precautions (and) they've done everything they can to prepare us ... I'm trusting in God."

The reopening of car plants will be a closely watched test of whether workers across a range of U.S. industries can return to factories in large numbers without a resurgence of infections.

Some potential good news in the global race for a vaccine helped U.S. stocks rise nearly 3% in morning trading.

Moderna Inc said on Monday its experimental vaccine for COVID-19, the disease caused by the coronavirus, showed promise in early trials and it looks to advance the vaccine into late-stage trials in July.

In a small early-stage trial the vaccine produced virus-neutralizing antibodies similar to those found in recovered patients. Moderna shares soared 25%.

PUSH TO REOPEN

Republican governors, especially in Southern states such as Georgia and Texas, have pushed to reopen more quickly than Democratic governors whose states are home to large, densely-populated cities.

Dallas Mayor Eric Johnson said on Monday that a spike in cases reported in Texas over the weekend was likely a result of the reopening of parts of the state's economy at the beginning of May.

"These things sort of lag - the decision is made and then you don't see the result in the cases until a couple weeks later," Johnson told CNN. "So this is more than likely connected in some way to the opening of restaurants and movie theaters and retail ... a couple of weeks ago."

New York City Mayor Bill de Blasio repeated at his daily briefing that the "first half of June" will be the first opportunity to relax restrictions on non-essential businesses and social life in the city of more than 8 million people. "We will lay all this out in stages as we are ready."

Protesters chafing at restrictions have made their voices heard in various parts of the country, sometimes encouraged by President Donald Trump, a Republican eager to jumpstart the economy as he seeks re-election in November.

"REOPEN OUR COUNTRY!" Trump wrote in a Twitter poem-

Monday and "TRANSITION TO GREATNESS."

On Monday morning the Atilis Gym in Bellmawr, New Jersey, reopened in defiance of Democratic Governor Phil Murphy's shutdown order. The state, hardest hit by the coronavirus after its neighbor New York, has allowed non-essential retail businesses and non-essential construction to resume operations beginning on May 18.

When the gym reopened its doors for members, a crowd of supporters chanted, "USA! USA!" and waved American flags and Trump 2020 banners.

Ian Smith, the gym's co-owner, had described the shutdown order as a "gross violation of constitutional rights."

In a Facebook post, the gym shared a series of safety measures it had taken, including limiting access to members, all of whom would have their temperature taken at the door, and it would operate at 20% of capacity.

U.S. auto industry returns to life after lockdown

WARREN, Michigan (Reuters) - The Detroit Three auto-makers and their suppliers began restarting assembly lines on Monday after a two-month coronavirus lockdown in a slow revival of a sector that employs nearly 1 million people in the United States.

On a chilly and damp Monday morning, hundreds of workers at Fiat Chrysler Automobile's (FCA) (FCHA.MI) truck plant in Warren, Michigan began lining up before 4 a.m. to start the 5 a.m. shift. Signs overhead read: "Let's restart."

"I'm a little nervous," said Larry Smith, 53, of New Baltimore, who works on wheel alignment away from the assembly line. "They made all the precautions (and) they've done everything they can to prepare us ... I'm trusting in God."

Detroit automakers on Monday said there were no issues with absenteeism as the plants opened.

FCA reopened four U.S. assembly plants on Monday, including Warren Truck, on a single shift, as well as four parts plants.

The reopening of car plants will be a closely watched test of whether workers across a range of U.S. industries can return to factories in large numbers without a resurgence of infections.

General Motors Co (GM.N), Ford Motor Co (F.N) and FCA have all been preparing for weeks to reopen their North American factories in a push to restart work in an industry that accounts for about 6% of U.S. economic activity.

Investors welcomed the gradual restart, sending GM's shares up more than 9% on Monday. FCA shares rose 7.3%, while Ford's were up 6.7%.

Auto companies have redesigned assembly lines and retrained workers in an effort to avoid coronavirus outbreaks that could derail production again.

Workers entering factories on Monday were checked by temperature monitors. Face masks or shields are standard protective equipment. Jobs such as installing seat belts that used to require two or more workers to get close together inside a vehicle have been redesigned to keep people a safe distance apart.

Plastic screens have been installed along assembly lines to separate workers leaning in to the engine compartments of vehicles. Break areas have been reconfigured to keep workers six feet apart.

The Detroit automakers have collaborated with each other and with the United Auto Workers to develop common coronavirus safety practices. Other automakers in the United States are adopting similar safety measures.

Wearing a black Detroit vs Everybody face mask as he entered FCA's Warren Truck plant early Monday, production operator

Laruante Gary, a Detroit resident who installs doors on Ram pickups, said, "I expect to see things cleaned and safety protocols being observed, and I expect us to know something as far as the next steps for us."

Another production worker at the plant Sean Reid, 37, of Belleville, expressed concern over the earlier virus-related deaths of several U.S. auto workers, including one at Warren Truck.

"I don't know where people have been, I don't know what they've been doing," he said. "I don't like it, but what can I do, really?"

The Detroit automakers have many older workers in states such as Michigan that were hit hard by the pandemic.

Theresa Segura, 61, of Lincoln Park, arrived for work at the FCA Warren plant on Monday but was immediately sent home after noting on an FCA questionnaire that she had been exposed to a family member who had just tested positive for the virus.

Segura, who has worked at the truck plant since 1993, said she thought that it was in any case too soon to reopen "because there are still people sick out there."

Top Trump Official Says Country Safe To Reopen As Governors Stress Social Distancing

Governors are stressing the importance of social distancing and mask wearing as their states reopen, though enforcing those protocols has been difficult and even led to violent confrontations. Officials have been forced to largely rely on people to self-regulate, including in New York City, where residents have been asked to possibly report rule-breakers to 311.

At the same time some governors have expressed dismay at those choosing to ignore safety guidelines, Health and Human Services Secretary Alex Azar said on Sunday he is unconcerned and that it is safe to reopen the country because half of U.S. counties reporting cases of the novel coronavirus "haven't had a single death."

All U.S. beaches are projected to be open on Memorial Day 2020.

Here are some significant developments: Peter Navarro, one of President Trump's top economic advisers, said Sunday that the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention "let the country down" on the testing front during the early days of the coronavirus pandemic.

Nursing homes operated by Life Care Centers of America violated federal standards meant to stop the spread of infections even after the start of the covid-19 outbreak, inspection reports show.

Eric Trump Claims Social Distancing Is a Democrat 'Strategy' and COVID-19 Will 'Magically' Disappear After Election

Eric Trump at the 45th President Donald J. Trump's address of the crowd for the opening ceremony of the New York City 100th annual Veterans Day Parade and wreath-laying at the Eternal Light Flag Staff in New York on Nov. 11, 2019.

Last Saturday, Eric Trump declared that COVID-19 social distancing measures are part of a "cognizant strategy" for Democrats to win the 2020 Presidential election, and that the novel coronavirus will "magically" disappear after Nov. 3. In an interview with Fox News' Jeanine Pirro on Saturday, the President's son cast doubt on social distancing measures aimed at curbing the spread of coronavirus, which has claimed the lives of more than 89,000 Americans. Trump declared that Democrats are "trying to milk" the pandemic by temporarily closing businesses and implementing other social distancing measures, and that they aim to undermine President Donald Trump's ability to win reelection.

President Trump at a political rally in America's heartland in 2019.

"They think they're taking away Donald Trump's greatest tool, which is being able to go into an arena and fill it with 50,000 people every single time...." Trump said.

"And you watch, they'll milk it every single day between now and Nov. 3. And guess what, after Nov. 3 coronavirus will magically, all of a sudden, go away and disappear and everybody will be able to reopen."

Trump added that Vice President Biden "loves this" because he is not able to draw comparable crowds to his campaign events. He said that Democrats are trying to take away the President's "greatest asset"—his ability to connect with the American people, and appear at campaign rallies.

Trump's comments echoed his fathers'.

In February, President Trump said that Democrats' criticism of his administration's response to COVID-19 is "their new hoax."

The president's son, Eric Trump, says democrats are "politicizing" the importance of social distancing to keep citizens from going to work.

Several Fox News hosts have faced criticism for downplaying the threat of the COVID-19, especially early in the American outbreak, including Pirro and Sean Hannity. Research released in April by the Becker Friedman Institute for Economics found that viewership of Hannity's show, compared to a Fox News show which warned viewers of the virus' threat, is "strongly associated with a greater number of COVID-19 cases and deaths in the early stages of the pandemic."

Trump said the conspiracy was being used by former Vice President Joe Biden, the presumptive Democratic presidential nominee to run against his father in the general election.

The coronavirus outbreak, which has largely paralyzed the world economy and killed 89,498 people in the U.S., is not a hoax. Scientists and public health officials have credited social distancing measures with curbing the spread of the disease.

Critics on social media took issue with Trump's cavalier attitude toward the virus.

"90,000 dead Americans, but Eric wants you to know Trump and his rallies are the real victims here," tweeted journalist S.E. Cupp. (Courtesy <https://www.washingtonpost.com/> and time.com)

USDA Farmers To Families Food Box Plan Is Big Success

USDA has awarded contracts to food producers and distributors to support its Farmers to Families Food Box Program.

Compiled And Edited By John T. Robbins, Southern Daily Editor

As part of the Coronavirus Farm Assistance Program Secretary Perdue announced on April 17 that the USDA is exercising authority under the Families First Coronavirus Response Act to purchase and distribute up to $3 billion of agricultural products to those in need. USDA will partner with regional and local distributors, whose workforce has been significantly impacted by the closure of many restaurants, hotels, and other food service entities, to purchase fresh produce, dairy, and meat. USDA will issue a solicitation to invite proposals from offerors to supply commodity boxes to non-profit organizations, identified by the offeror, on a mutually agreeable, recurring schedule. USDA will award contracts for the purchase of the agricultural products, the assembly of commodity boxes and delivery to identified non-profit organizations that can receive, store and distribute food items. Agricultural Marketing Service's Commodity Procurement Program will procure an estimated $100 million per month in fresh fruits and vegetables, $100 million per month in a variety of dairy products, and $100 million per month in meat products. The distributors and wholesalers will then provide a pre-approved box of fresh produce, dairy, and meat products to food banks, community and faith-based organizations, and other non-profits serving Americans in need. Agriculture Secretary Sonny Perdue and White House adviser Ivanka Trump on Friday toured a Maryland food service distributor that's participating in the Farmers to Families Food Box Program. At a brief ceremony marking the program's launch at Coastal Sunbelt Produce in Laurel, Perdue gave credit to President Donald Trump. Trump had seen news reports about farm goods going to waste and said 'Sonny, I want you to bring me a program that will work,'" Perdue said. Billions of dollars worth of fruit, vegetables and other farm products that might have gone to waste because of the coronavirus pandemic will instead be delivered to food banks and nonprofit organizations that help the needy under a new Agriculture Department program.

Perdue announced last month that his department will spend up to $3 billion in coronavirus relief money to buy and distribute agricultural goods through regional and local distributors. "When this thing happened, obviously, it was horrifying to hear about vegetables having to be plowed under because of no markets and milk having to be dumped, animals potentially having to be euthanized because we had broken the supply chain," Perdue said. Food distributors saw sharp declines in business after restaurants and other food service establishments shut down or cut back because of the pandemic. Suppliers, like Coastal Sunbelt Produce, is packaging the fruits and vegetables in family-sized cardboard boxes and expects to deliver 35,000 boxes a week to food banks, community and religious organizations, and other nonprofits through June 30.

Perdue, Ivanka Trump and Maryland Gov. Larry Hogan, who wore face coverings inside the refrigerated warehouse, watched as workers swiftly packed boxes with mushrooms, tomatoes, zucchini, bell peppers, potatoes and other produce items. The workers were bundled up against the chill and wore face shields, face masks and other protective gear. "We held them," Ivanka Trump said. "These are 20 to 25 pound boxes of the finest fresh produce, often locally grown." The president's eldest daughter has been working with USDA, the Small Business Administration and Treasury Department to include smaller farms in coronavirus relief programs, the White House said.

After Coastal Sunbelt Produce received a USDA contract, the company was able to recall 50 furloughed employees to work on the food box program, she said. Trump praised the program at an unrelated White House event on Friday. "It'll be helping farmers, ranchers, but it'll be bringing food to some of the food lines and some of the food kitchens that you've been seeing on television," he said. The U.S. Department of Agriculture approved $1.2 billion in contracts to support food producers and communities through its Farmers to Families Food Box Program in response to the COVID-19 pandemic. Through the program, USDA will contract with distributors and wholesalers that will provide pre-approved boxes of fresh produce, dairy, and meat products to food banks, community and faith-based organizations, and other nonprofits. The program is expected to begin distributing surplus food to communities across the country within days.

The USDA announced the program on April 17 as part of the Coronavirus Food Assistance Program developed to help farmers, ranchers, and consumers in response to the COVID-19 emergency. Through the program, the USDA's Agriculture Marketing Service is partnering with national, regional, and local suppliers, whose workforce has been impacted by the closure of restaurants, hotels, and other food service businesses, to purchase up to $3 billion in fresh produce, dairy, and meat products. The program will purchase $461 million in fresh fruits and vegetables, $317 million in dairy products, $258 million in meat products, and $175 million in a combination boxes of fresh produce, dairy, or meat products. Suppliers will package these products into family-sized boxes then transport them to organizations from May 15-June 30. The service may extend the contracts, via option periods, dependent upon program success and available remaining funds up to $3 billion. 境外華人需求旺 網上訂單急增

抗擊 新冠肺炎

疫情下之企業這麼做

藍根、當歸、黨參等價格均呈現不同程度的上漲。香港文匯報記者訪問的多家中藥材商均表示，春節後來自海外國家的跨境需求較以往有明顯增加，由此帶來的網絡訂單迅速增長，令業界更加重視電商平台的商機。

圖/文：香港文匯報記者 楊韶紅 甘肅報道

宕昌縣哈達鋪鎮藥業聯合社理事長楊玉安介紹，疫情以來他們自己手工調配的黃芪茶網上訂單猛增，加班生產依然供不應求。境外訂單也大增，之前每個月會有兩三個境外訂單，春節後則最少五六單，甚至十幾單，數量大增，上周他們還發了新加坡、泰國的訂單。訂貨種類最多的是黃芪、當歸飲片，這類藥材訂貨量增加了至少10%。這些訂單的金額多在100元（人民幣，下同）左右，都是自用的多。他還透露港澳地區是單單最多的，而且除了黃芪飲片外，訂得很多的是淫羊藿。“港澳地區的人們都是中國人，所以他們更懂得這些傳統的好藥。”

港澳台客戶佔比高

該聯合社是2019年6月才成立的，下面有29個農民合作社，去年7月開了電商平台。現在每天的網上訂單在200至400單，銷貨價值在8,000元到12,000元間，而與過去僅僅銷售原藥相比，各類切片飲片及

店舖裡展示了各式各樣的中藥材貨品。

新冠疫情影响不少企業的外貿訂單大受影響，但中藥材因受海外華人追捧，生意反倒水漲船高。近期甘肅省中藥材價格出現上漲趨勢，特別是與抗疫方劑有關的黃芪、板藍根、當歸、黨參等價格均呈現不同程度的上漲。香港文匯報記者訪問的多家中藥材商均表示，春節後來自海外國家的跨境需求較以往有明顯增加，由此帶來的網絡訂單迅速增長，令業界更加重視電商平台的商機。

調配型功能產品更受客戶歡迎，且增值更多。楊玉安介紹，去年7月到今年1月（年前）黃芪茶就銷了30多萬元，疫情爆發以來，2月到4月銷了近60萬元。

賠錢送貨開拓市場

宕昌福江源藥業科技公司負責人王福元表示，復工以來中藥材交易量穩步增長，境外人員從電商平台也多有下單，但這個生意還不太好做，跨境電商主要是物流不暢，海關經常也不能通過。“順豐、中通物流都發不了境外，只有郵政，但價格非常貴。最主要境外的物流和我們銜接不好，到了境外機場，貨提不走，送不到客戶手上。還有海關問題，我們發的許多貨有時被北京海關擋下，有時被上海海關擋下，最終退回來。客戶網上下單買中藥，有的就幾十元的貨，我們經常來回郵費花了幾百元，還沒發出去。這種生意我們是賠錢做，主要是想開拓區域，探索些新市場，但很不容易。近期，我們也看到境外因疫情爆發很需要中藥材，但不知道怎麼樣銜接上去，心裡也很着急。”

去年上半年公司基本無境外訂單，今年一季度的境外訂單大大增加，比春節前也有較大增幅，“春節前一個月有幾單，多時會有十幾單，這幾個月基本每月都有十幾單”。王福元說，春節後增長最多的訂單是黃芪飲片，需求猛增，境外訂單主要是馬來西亞、韓國、新加坡等，要量較多的是香港、台灣的客戶。“香港也有客戶與我們線下聯繫，是我們的合作夥伴，一次訂幾百公斤，幾千公斤的原藥，有黃芪、黨參、當歸等。”據了解，該公司電商訂單每天在幾百到幾千單不等，曾經在搞活動時，日訂單達到過7,000至8,000單。

新冠疫情影响中藥材生意水漲船高，其價格更出現上漲趨勢。圖為高建軍介紹基地準備發運的藥材。

確保質量 嚴防退單

位於甘肅隴南市宕昌縣的甘肅琦昆公司中藥材倉儲物流基地的黃芪、當歸等訂單近期平穩增加。據該公司負責人高建軍介紹，目前大宗發貨及網上訂單都基本進入平穩狀態，價格方面，板藍根漲幅最大，每公斤漲了10元（人民幣，下同）左右，黃芪漲了5至10元，當歸、黨參漲幅相對小一點，黃芪精製飲片每公斤已在65元，他預測一個月後，價格應該還有新一輪增長。

高建軍又透露，近期公司的當歸“全歸片”網上銷量非常大，他們正在研究其中緣由，覺得兩三根的小包裝可保持客戶使用時的新鮮度，防生蟲，使用又不浪費，可能這些特點受到客戶喜歡。他說：“做藥材，就是做長線，做人品，要確保質量。我們要求電商部門人員要穩定訂單，堅決防止退單。”此外，公司去年已與哈薩克斯坦等多個國

家簽訂貿易協議，今年將啟動相關工作。據隴南市宕昌縣電商中心主任胡東鵬介紹，近期當地通過電商獲得下單的客戶已有日本、韓國、意大利、美國、新加坡、香港、澳門、台灣等國家和地區，許多是新客戶。宕昌理源藥業有限公司2月底向美國發出了125公斤黨參薄片樣品，對方已收到。前一段該客戶又要求發了黃芪樣品，收到後認為質量都很好，電話回復計劃要大量採購。
