Irma knocks out power to millions

Even as Texas continues to marshal crews to handle Hurricane Harvey debris, Irma's move up the west coast of Florida on Monday promises to stress the effort and leave a combined bill near or topping the multi-billion dollar tab for Katrina, the largest to date.

(Reuters)

Irma hit southwest Florida on Sunday morning as a dangerous Category 4 hurricane, the second-highest level on the five-step Saffir-Simpson scale. It had weakened to a tropical storm by Monday morning as it headed toward Georgia.

The storm, which was moving into southern Georgia, was packing maximum sustained winds of 60 miles per hour (97 kph), according to the U.S. National Hurricane Center's latest update at 2 p.m. EDT.

Power losses in Georgia, which were nearing 900,000 as of 3 p.m. EDT, were expected to increase as the storm moved north.

In Florida, the state's biggest electric company said its outages dipped to 3.5 million from a peak of 3.6 million earlier on Monday. A total of almost 4.5 million Florida Power & Light customers have been affected by the storm, with about 1 million getting service restored, mostly by automated devices.

FPL said it was still assessing the damage and could not yet say when it would restore service to most customers. Some homes and businesses could be without power for weeks, especially in the hardest-hit areas like southwest Florida, the NextEra Energy Inc unit said.

As the storm pushed north, outage figures were increasing at other large utilities, including units of Duke Energy Corp, Southern Co and Emera Inc. Duke's outages held around 1.2 million on Monday afternoon, while Emera's Tampa Electric utility said outages eased to about 320,000 from a peak earlier on Monday of over 330,000.

FPL said its two nuclear plants were safe. Both units at its Turkey Point facility, about 30 miles (48 km) south of Miami, were shut by early Monday. The company closed Turkey Point's Unit 3 on Saturday as Irma approached the coast but decided not shut Unit 4 at that time because the hurricane track shifted away from the plant toward the western part of the Florida Peninsula. FPL shut Unit 4 on Sunday night, however, because of to a possible valve issue that was probably not related to Irma, U.S. Nuclear Regulatory Commission officials said on Monday.

At its St. Lucie nuclear plant about 120 miles (190 km) north of Miami, FPL reduced power at Unit 1 because of salt buildup from Irma in the switchyard, NRC spokesman Roger Hannah said. The plant's other reactor, Unit 2, continued to operate at full power. Duke's retired Crystal River plant, about 90 miles (145 km) north of Tampa, has spent nuclear fuel, but Hannah said that was not a problem. As Irma loomed and came ashore, gasoline stations struggled to keep up as people evacuated Florida. In the Atlanta metropolitan area, about 545 stations, or about 13.2 percent of the total, were out of the fuel earlier on Monday, according to information service Gas Buddy.

Irma is expected to sap demand for fuel for a time, Goldman Sachs analysts said in a note on Monday.

Mayor seeks temporary property tax hike for Harvey recovery

Mayor Sylvester Turner will ask City Council to approve an 8.9 percent hike in the city's property tax rate this fall to help Houston recover from Hurricane Harvey. Turner's proposal, which will begin with a series of public hearings later this month and reach a formal vote in mid-October, would increase the property tax rate from 58.64 cents per $100 of appraised value to 63.87 cents.

Back to school day

Houston ISD, the state's largest school district, opened its doors for the first time this fall, with 243 of its 284 campuses scheduled to re-open Monday. The remaining 41 schools are expected to re-open in the next two weeks, including 29 campuses set to return on Tuesday, according to data posted by the district. Seven campuses are not expected to re-open this month due to extensive damage. Students attending those schools will attend classes in vacant buildings or existing campuses that can accommodate additional students.

The economic cost of Hurricane Irma could rise as high as $300bn (£227bn) as the storm lashes Florida, damaging homes, businesses and key crops including orange groves.

Analysts said about $2tn of property lay in the storm's path, and also pointed to the potential impact on US food prices. Florida is the second-largest produce grower in the US and the world's second-largest producer of orange juice.

Torsten Jeworrek, a member of the board of the German reinsurance giant Munich Re, said on Sunday that Irma was "a major event for Florida and also a major event for the insurance industry".

The hurricane has already unsettled the financial markets, sending insurance stocks falling and orange juice futures surging last week. The price of contracts for November deliveries of frozen orange juice concentrate spiked as investors feared the worst after the destruction Irma wrought in the Caribbean.

Barrie Cornes, an analyst at the stockbroker Panmure Gordon, put the overall economic cost at $300bn, with insurance firms potentially on the hook for between $100bn and $150bn when the clean-up operation gets under way.

Florida also grows other important crops including tomatoes, grapefruits, watermelons and sugar cane. Irma could wipe out as much as 20% of the state's citrus crop, a significant part of its economy, analysts have suggested.

Alan Konn of the Chicago-based commodity trading firm Price Asset Management said: "The damage to the orange crop is twofold, both short-term disruption but also to the extent crops are completely destroyed."

Irma could also have a longer-term impact because it takes a few years to grow an orange tree to production, which would limit supply for an extended period, he said in an interview on the financial website MarketWatch.

Experts: Insurance Firms Could Be Liable For Up To Half Of Costs After Irma Damages Homes, Businesses And Key Crops

Economic Cost Of Hurricane Irma 'Could Reach $300BN'

The insurance industry is still assessing the cost of Hurricane Harvey, which caused severe flooding in parts of Texas last month. Initial estimates suggest the final bill could be as much as $100bn. That compares with economic damage of $176bn inflicted by Hurricane Katrina in 2005, which included $82bn of insured losses, according to the Swiss Re Institute.

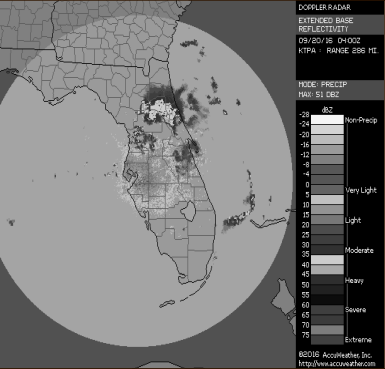

Risk modeller Chuck Watson of Enki Research said on Sunday afternoon that Irma looked 'pretty grim'.

"Damage the roof of a million homes, which is possible in this storm, and the cost racks up pretty quick," Watson said. He fears that Florida's orange and grapefruit crop will probably be "severely damaged" if the winds over the centre of the state, between Lake Okeechobee and Orlando, are as high as expected.

The hurricane is "bad news for the Florida insurance market, which is now dominated by smaller firms since the big national companies pulled out after the rash of storms in the mid 2000s," Watson added.

AccuWeather Predicts Economic Cost Of Harvey, Irma Combined At $290 Billion

It has been a destructive and costly hurricane season, following the historic impacts from Hurricane Harvey and now Hurricane Irma. This is the first time in the history of record keeping that two Category 4 or higher hurricanes, Harvey and Irma, have struck the U.S. mainland in the same year.

"That is extraordinary by itself," Dr. Joel N. Myers, AccuWeather founder, president and chairman, said.

"And also unprecedented is that this particular storm, Irma, has sustained intensity for the longest period of time of any hurricane or typhoon in any ocean of the world since the satellite era began," Myers said.

Irma has great staying power, and it is a unique storm. It has had a brush with several islands in the Caribbean and ran on land in Cuba. Now, it's hugged the Florida coast as a major hurricane.

"The storm is not only intense, it is also very large. The area affected by the strong winds along the west coast near the center of the storm will barrel along and hug the coast closely heading due north, and will bring winds gusts of well over 100 mph and conceivably over 125 mph," Myers said.

These types of storms cause extremely hazardous conditions, including flying objects, fallen trees, downed power lines, which carry the potential for electrocution, broken window glass on homes and cars and damage to roofs and other structures. Storm surge will be another major threat.

"The period of damaging winds will last longer than normal because of these reasons. The size of the storm combined with its slow movement means that hurricane-force wind gusts in some places will occur over a time period of 12 or more hours, so the damage will be compounded," Myers said. "And also, along the west coast of Florida, you'll have damage from the easterly winds in advance of the storm and westerly winds behind the storm due to the circulation around the eye."

The westerly winds behind the storm will be particularly damaging on the west coast because they will bring in the sea from the Gulf and the high tides.

"So, while there will be damage on the west coast ahead of the storm from the wind and rain, once the storm passes there will be an onslaught of wind from the other direction and structures and trees that withstood the wind from one part of the storm may be weakened and susceptible to sustaining damage," Myers said. "Winds off the Gulf of Mexico will cause additional damage by bringing in the water to coastal areas."

Hurricane Irma will cause damage from all three factors – wind, flooding from heavy rain and damage from the sea in different places in Florida.

While one may not think about hurricane-force winds across the interior, there will be many places well removed from the coast in Florida 25-50 miles inland that will see wind gusts of over 100 mph.

The storm will weaken once it gets through the Florida Panhandle and Georgia, but the harmful, life-threatening effects of the storm could last into Wednesday or Thursday north of Florida.

The life-threatening impacts will include rain and flooding Tuesday through Wednesday, and possibly into Thursday, across Georgia, north-eastern Alabama, the mountains of Tennessee and North Carolina, and perhaps as far north as Kentucky and the mountains of West Virginia.

"This is a story for many days to come, and Florida will be ravaged the most through Sunday night and maybe north Florida Monday morning," Myers said.

"We believe the damage estimate from Irma to be about $100 billion, among the costliest hurricanes of all time. This amounts to 0.5 of a percentage point of the GDP of $19 trillion," Myers said.

"We estimated that Hurricane Harvey is to be the costliest weather disaster in U.S. history at $190 billion or one full percentage point of the GDP. Together, AccuWeather predicts these two disasters amount to 1.5 of a percentage point of the GDP, which will about equal and therefore counter the natural growth of the economy for the period of mid-August through the end of the fourth quarter," Myers added.

Economic costs include, but are not limited to, the following:

- Disruptions to businesses
 - Increased unemployment rates for weeks, and possibly months in some places
 - Damage to transportation, infrastructure
 - Crop loss, including cotton crop and 25 percent of orange crop, which will impact the cost of consumables for all Americans
 - Increased gasoline, heating oil and jet fuel prices impacting all Americans
 - Damage to homes, cars, furniture, antiques, jewelry and other valuables
 - Loss of valuable papers, cherished belongings such as photos
- "Some of the losses will be covered by insurance, some will not, so the losses will be felt in a variety of ways by millions of people. Many millions of people have already been evacuated, so their lives have already been affected and they have incurred costs of one sort or another," Myers said.

"AccuWeather takes our responsibility of providing the most accurate forecasts and warnings and the impact on people and business very seriously. This is a solemn responsibility that we have and our people are working extremely hard and with great intensity to make sure that all the people we reach can depend on our info for the utmost in reliability so they can make the right decisions during these stressful times. We also take great pride in the fact that we were the first to warn of the magnitude of both Harvey and Irma and have been out ahead of other sources on both so people know they can get the latest and best info from the AccuWeather app and our website. We thank those who put trust in AccuWeather forecasts and warnings and are gratified by the countless notes of thanks we are receiving from our customers and users in the affected areas," Myers said. The celebrity status of Princess Juliana International Airport, a major transit point for tourists visiting the region, comes from its runway's proximity to Maho Beach, allowing tourists close-up views of airliners skimming overhead to land and the feeling of the jet blast of aircraft taking off.

Billionaire Richard Branson's Private Getaway Island In The British Virgin Islands Has Been Destroyed

Hurricane Irma Severely Damaged One Of The World's Most Famous Airports

Photos sent from Necker Island vividly show the power of the storm that hit the private getaway of the flamboyant CEO of Virgin Air. The main house was all but destroyed and some of the surrounding structures are gone.

Necker took the full force of the record-breaking storm earlier this week as it swept through the British Virgin Islands.

Branson posted images of buildings and vegetation left completely destroyed by the monster storm.

Writing from Puerto Rico, he said: "As you can see from the photos, much of the buildings and vegetation on Necker has been destroyed or badly damaged."

"We felt the full force of the strongest hurricane ever in the Atlantic Ocean."

"But we are very fortunate to have a strong cellar built into Necker's Great House and were very lucky all of our teams who stayed on Island during the storm are safe and well."

As was reported, Branson and his crew weathered the storm from a basement and they all survived.

Branson also had an awesome menagerie of exotic animals on the property and a number of them didn't make it through the hurricane ... but many did. We're told 250 flamingos are going strong, as are 60 lemurs.

We're told all of the parrots and toucans also survived. Sources in Necker Island say Branson converted his wine cellar into an animal hospital and shelter for the injured, weak and scared.

"This story is about the tens of thousands of people who have lost their homes and their livelihoods."

Branson said the government's response to the Hurricane - which has been highly criticised - has led to "worrying reports of civil unrest".

"We must get more help to the islands to rebuild homes and infrastructure and restore power, clean water and food supplies," he added.

"The UK government will have a massive role to play in the recovery of its territories affected by Irma - both through short-term aid and long-term infrastructure spending.

"The region needs a "Disaster Recovery Marshall Plan" for the BVI and other territories that will aid in recovery, sustainable reconstruction and long-term revitalisation of the local economy."

Earlier this week, Branson gave a shocking first-person account of Hurricane Irma, saying the 185mph storm has sent doors and windows "flying 40 feet away".

In an emotional message, the billionaire Virgin boss describes how his luxurious Necker Island home has been "completely and utterly devastated" by the hurricane.

He says entire houses and trees have vanished - and vows to do whatever possible to support and assist the local community in "this extremely testing time".

"It is a traumatic time here in the British Virgin Islands," says Mr Branson, who spoke the words to Virgin colleagues via a satellite phone that was "just about working".

"Hurricane Irma is continuing a path of destruction that brought the eye of the storm to Necker Island, Moskito Island and the whole surrounding area."

He adds: "I have never seen anything like this hurricane."

"Necker and the whole area have been completely and utterly devastated. We are still assessing the damage, but whole houses and trees have disappeared. Outside of the bunker, bathroom and bedroom doors and windows have flown 40 feet away."

Mr Branson, who bunkered down in a concrete wine cellar with family and friends, confirms that all of the team on Necker and Moskito Island are "safe and well".

"We took shelter from the strongest hurricane ever inside the concrete cellar on Necker and very, very fortunately it held firm," he says.

"Our thoughts go out to everyone affected by the disaster elsewhere in the BVI, Caribbean and beyond."

"Our thoughts go out to everyone affected by the disaster elsewhere in the BVI, Caribbean and beyond, said Richard Branson from his private Caribbean island that was totally decimated by Hurricane Irma.

He also explains: "I'm speaking these words from a satellite phone that is just about working, but all other communications are down."

Mr Branson's account was posted on Virgin's website (<https://www.virgin.com/richard-branson/hurricane-irma>). In it, the billionaire urges others in the Category 5 hurricane's path to "put safety first".

He adds: "We will do whatever we can to support and assist our local community through this extremely testing time. If our really strong buildings sustained such damage, I am so worried for elsewhere in the BVI and Caribbean."

Virgin Atlantic's Antigua flight was today packed with "essential items" to aid the recovery effort, and Virgin has made a donation to the British Red Cross.

Mr Branson thanked everyone who had sent well wishes and support.

Earlier, his son, Sam Branson, had confirmed no one was hurt on Necker in an Instagram post. (Courtesy <http://www.mirror.co.uk/news/world-news/>)

July pace of U.S. home sales reached lowest level

Americans retreated from buying homes in July as sales sank to their lowest level of the year.

The National Association of Realtors said this past week that sales of existing homes fell 1.3 percent to a seasonally adjusted annual rate of 5.44 million. Despite the second straight monthly drop, sales are 2.1 percent higher than a year ago. But purchases are starting to slow as fewer properties are coming onto the market.

The real estate market is grappling with the consequences of a persistent shortage of homes for sale despite strong demand from would-be buyers. The decline in listings has driven up prices and made many homes unaffordable: Prices are rising faster than the wages of potential buyers despite a solid job market.

For more than two years now, inventory has been contracting, pushing the housing market into an inventory crisis," said Svenja Gudell, chief economist at the real estate firm Zillow.

Retirement Plans
Can Make Loans,
Hardship
Distributions to Victims of Hurricane Harvey

WASHINGTON —The Internal Revenue Service today announced that 401(k)s and similar employer-sponsored retirement plans can make loans and hardship distributions to victims of Hurricane Harvey and members of their families. This is similar to relief provided last year to Louisiana flood victims and victims of Hurricane Matthew.

Participants in 401(k) plans, employees of public schools and tax-exempt organizations with 403(b) tax-sheltered annuities, as well as state and local government employees with 457(b) deferred-compensation plans may be eligible to take advantage of these streamlined loan procedures and liberalized hardship distribution rules. Though IRA participants are barred from taking out loans, they may be eligible to receive distributions under liberalized procedures.

Retirement plans can provide this relief to employees and certain members of their families who live or work in disaster area localities affected by Hurricane Harvey and designated for individual assistance by the Federal Emergency Management Agency (FEMA). Current-ly, parts of Texas qualify for individual assistance. For a complete list of eligible counties, visit <https://www.fema.gov/> disasters. To qualify for this relief, hardship withdrawals must be made by Jan. 31, 2018.

The IRS is also relaxing procedural and administrative rules that normally apply to retirement plan loans and hardship distributions. As a result, eligible retirement plan participants will be able to

Washington, DC -- On Wednesday, September 6, 2017, Congressman Al Green (D-TX) released a statement on the decision to end DACA:

"I support citizenship for the righteous DREAMers.

"After the devastation caused by Hurricane Harvey, I cannot imagine what my DACA constituents are experiencing after the ending of the DACA program by the Trump Administration. At a time when many of my constituents are facing an uncertain future, this was the cruelest time to jeopardize the future of these young people.

"President Trump has abandoned the DREAMers today with this outrageous action. However, we will not do the same in Congress. My colleagues and I will immediately fight to support a long-term solution for participants of the DACA program. As for me, I support citizenship that respects those who are already in line as the resolution for the righteous DREAMers. Deporting DREAMers means destroying the lives of hundreds of thousands of deserving young people, costing the economy billions and betraying the fundamental values of the American Dream.

"For the past five years, DACA has provided a strong pathway to hope and possibilities for nearly 800,000 young people in the United States. In Texas alone, this will affect over 124,000 young people and would lead to nearly $6.3 billion in GDP losses.

"This program has bipartisan support, which has been very hard to come by recently. It is my hope that Speaker Ryan and the House Republican leadership bring protections for DREAMers to the floor for a vote without delay. It is important that we fight for an immigration system that is inclusive and fair for all, beyond DACA. I will encourage my colleagues to do the same moving forward."

access their money more quickly with a minimum of red tape. In addition, the six-month ban on 401(k) and 403(b) contributions that normally affects employees who take hardship distributions will not apply.

This broad-based relief means that a retirement plan can allow a victim of Hurricane Harvey to take a hardship distribution or borrow up to the specified statutory limits from the victim's retirement plan. It also means that a person who lives outside the disaster area can take out a retirement plan loan or hardship distribution and use it to assist a son, daughter, parent, grandparent or other dependent who lived or worked in the disaster area. Plans will be allowed to make loans or hardship distributions before the plan is formally amended to provide for such features. In addition, the plan can ignore the reasons that normally apply to hardship distributions, thus allowing them, for example, to be used for food and shelter. If a plan requires certain documentation before a distribution is made, the plan can relax this requirement as described in Announcement 2017-11.

The IRS emphasized that the tax treatment of loans and distributions remains unchanged. Ordinarily, retirement plan loan proceeds are tax-free if they are repaid over a period of five years or less. Under current law, hardship distributions are generally taxable and subject to a 10-percent early-withdrawal tax. Further details are in Announcement 2017-11, posted today on IRS.gov. More information about other tax relief related to Hurricane Harvey can be found on the IRS disaster relief page. 美南電視轉換新頻道15.3操作指南

美南國際電視網STV Channel 已由55.5 轉換至15.3，並正式擴大為十個頻道，廣大收視觀眾只要透過遙控器轉台至15.3，即可收看到美南電視節目，如果您家中的電視遙控器轉到15.3頻道，依然無法收看到美南電視，請依以下中英對照操作指南方式調整。

點選遙控器內的Menu頻道設定，重新掃描，注意智能型電視可能有一個聰明的按鈕用於設置MENU選項。通常會有廠商的LOGO標誌。尋找頻道設置選項。確認頻道是以天線收視。從MENU中，選擇數位頻道搜索（Channel Scan 或 Channel Search 或是Auto program），進行頻道掃描搜索或頻道自動設定。當電視完成自動搜索後，你會看到電視列出已有多少個頻道重新被發現。頻道重新設定過程有時可能長達一個小時。頻道設定完成後，按確認然後退出。如果頻道重新搜尋仍無法接收或是收視情況不佳，請購買天線調整最佳收視角度。如仍有相關問題，請致電美南新聞281-498-4310，聯繫Daniel。

How to complete a channel scan on your Digital TV to add Channel 15.3

Please note: All TV manufacturers differ, so menu options, wording and other items may vary. The best way to complete the channel scan is to refer to the TV owner's manual. If that is unavailable, the following general steps should guide you through the process.

- 1.Using your television's remote control, press the Menu or Settings option.Note: a "Smart TV" may have a smart button that must be used to access the settings menu. It will generally have the manufacturer's logo on it.
- 2.Locate Channels or Tuner Set Up option.
- 3.Check the menu for an option of Antenna Type or Connection Type followed by either Antenna or Cable.
- 4.Make sure that the designated setting is Cable (based on manufacturer, alternate choices may include Digital Cable, CATV or Cable STD)
- 5.From the menu, choose Digital Channel Search (based on manufacturer,alternate choices may include Channel Scan, Channel Search or Auto program.)
- 6.Allow the TV to complete the search. You will see a bar listing how many channels have been found. The process may take up to an hour.
- 7.Once complete, confirm the menu prompt, then press an exit or quit option.

蔡依林送行李箱 11月將發演唱會DVD

蔡依林日前攜手慈善平臺開啓愛心公益拍賣活動，將10余件包包及服飾捐贈給公益組織。10日下午，蔡依林在個人社交網絡平臺與網友直播互動，首度化身電視購物主持人，壹壹展示她此次提供的個人收藏。蔡依林笑說，“現在當歌手好難啊，還要自己開直播節目。”

直播中，蔡依林不僅大方分享她與包包們的專屬回憶，她還親自化身模特披上浴袍，打趣道：“這件浴袍很霸氣，穿上就想跳美杜莎有沒有？”大做推銷的同時，蔡依林也認真地分享了此次公益拍賣的意義：“每次生日大家都會想要送我壹些禮物，其實我什麼東西都不缺，更希望大家能把心意和余力拿出來，幫助到更需要的人。”現場，蔡依林臨時宣布將會為此次拍賣再加碼，捐出平時形影不離的零食行李箱，為助力公益再添壹把火。蔡依林本次拍賣和直播收益的所有善款，都將捐助給“愛的分貝”，用於幫助貧困聾兒植入人工耳蝸手術及康復訓練。生日獲贈“男友”遭整蠱

當天正值蔡依林出道18周年的紀念日，也臨近她9月15日的生日，直播中途，蔡依林意外收獲了壹份來自工作人員的驚喜——“肌肉男”造型的生日蛋糕，順祝她早日找到人生另壹半。在工作人員的鼓動下，蔡依林當場“手劈肌肉男”，切開蛋糕的同時，蔡依林說：“是巧克力味的！”然而當吃下第壹口時，蔡依林突然停頓了三秒然後連連大叫“好辣啊！”原來工作人員刻意惡搞，希望給蔡依林壹個難忘的生日體驗，因而特別讓平時不吃辣椒的蔡依林被整蠱。當下，蔡依林不經意露出的鬼臉，也被觀看直播的網友接連刷屏，表示“反應太可愛了！”、“居然被整！”、“工作人員要被扣工資了！”直面造型非議 回應網友質疑
