Fearing ‘angry mob’, lawyer of freed Christian woman leaves Pakistan

ISLAMABAD (Reuters) - The Pakistani lawyer who helped a Christian woman overturn her death sentence for blasphemy said on Saturday he had left the country in fear of his life after her acquittal earlier this week sparked street protests by Islamists. Leaders of the ultra-Islamist Tehreek-e-Labaik (TLP) group blocked main roads in Pakistan’s biggest cities for three days, calling for the murder of the Supreme Court judges who acquitted Asia Bibi on Wednesday — urging their cooks and servants to kill them. Saiful Mulook had kept a low profile during the years he represented Bibi, a mother-of-five who has been on death row since 2010, due to the highly sensitive nature of the case. Two politicians who had tried to help her have been assassinated. Mulook told Reuters in a WhatsApp message he had gone abroad “just to save (my) life from angry mob” and because of fears for the safety of his family. “I consulted and everybody is of this opinion (that I should leave),” he said, adding that he would return to the country to continue his work on the case if he was given protection by security forces. The TLP called off the protests late on Friday after striking a deal with the government that would see authorities seek to put Bibi on an ‘exit control list’ barring her from leaving the country. Bibi’s whereabouts are unknown, but Islamists have warned the authorities against taking her out of the country. “There will be a war if they send Asia out of country,” TLP leader Khadim Hussain Rizvi said after the deal was reached. Earlier in the week one of Rizvi’s deputies called for Pakistan’s Chief Justice Saqib Nisar and two other judges who ruled in the case to be murdered. “Whoever, who has got any access to them, kill them before the evening,” TLP co-founder Muhammad Afzal Qadri told supporters. Protests for second day after Christian acquitted of blasphemy in Pakistan The TLP was founded out of a movement supporting a bodyguard who assassinated Punjab provincial governor Salman Taseer after he spoke in Bibi’s defence in 2011. Federal minister for minorities Shahbaz Bhatti was also killed after calling for her release.

GM wants Trump administration to back national electric vehicle program

WASHINGTON (Reuters) - General Motors Co said on Friday it wants the Trump administration to back a nationwide program to boost sales of zero emission vehicles like electric cars, even as the government has proposed ending California’s ability to require more clean vehicles. GM says a nationwide program modeled on California’s effort could result in 7 million electric vehicles, or EVs, on U.S. roads by 2030. The largest U.S. automaker said the requirements would not apply if “battery cost or infrastructure targets are not practicable within the time frame.” GM product chief Mark Reuss told reporters that governments and industries in Asia and Europe “are working together to enact policies now to hasten the shift to an all-electric future. It’s very simple: America has the opportunity to lead in the technologies of the future.”

A national mandate also would create jobs and reduce fuel consumption, CO2 emissions and “make EVs more affordable,” Reuss added. GM also wants the program to offer incentives for electric autonomous and ride-sharing vehicles. GM has said it plans to offer 20 EVs globally by 2023. The Trump administration in August proposed reversing Obama administration fuel rules and freezing standards at 2020 model year levels through 2026. The administration has proposed barring California from setting its own emissions requirements or requiring more zero emission vehicles. The administration is also considering eliminating all emissions compliance credits that automakers receive for building EVs. Other automakers, including Tesla Inc, did not comment on GM’s proposal. The Trump administration and California officials did not immediately comment but one environmental group called the GM proposal “a distraction.” Luke Tonachel, director of clean vehicles and fuels at the Natural Resources Defense Council, said automakers should focus on maintaining the Obama era rules that call for hiking fuel efficiency requirements at about 5 percent annually through 2026. Automakers and others have until Friday to file comments on the administration’s proposed emissions revisions. Major automakers say they do not support freezing requirements.

China, U.S., signal trade war detente California wants 15.4 percent of vehicle sales by 2025 to be EVs or other zero emission vehicles. Nine other states, including Maryland, Massachusetts, New Jersey and New York, have adopted those requirements. In January, California Governor Jerry Brown set a target of 5 million zero-emission vehicles in California by 2030. A nationwide ZEV plan would give automakers more flexibility to meet a single nationwide target, rather than specific state sales requirements, GM said. California Air Resources Board chief Mary Nichols said last month the state will “continue to insist on cars that produce fewer emissions, including millions more zero-emission vehicles.” The Trump administration criticizes California’s ZEV mandate, saying it requires automakers to spend tens of billions of dollars developing vehicles that most consumers do not want, only to sell them at a loss.

請選 凱莎·羅傑斯(KESHA ROGERS)

獨立的美國國會議員 (TX-9)

美國必須最終放棄戰後主導世界的失敗的“贏家通吃”地緣政治，在扶貧開發、資源開發、打擊恐怖主義、結束侵略戰爭、慶祝人類進步等共同面臨的共同問題上，成為相互“雙贏”合作新範式的一部分。

如果你們選我為國會議員，我將為之奮鬥。

Twitter deletes over 10,000 accounts that sought to discourage U.S. voting

WASHINGTON (Reuters) - Twitter Inc (TWTR.N) deleted more than 10,000 automated accounts posting messages that discouraged people from voting in Tuesday's U.S. election and wrongly appeared to be from Democrats, after the party flagged the misleading tweets to the social media company.

A voting official hands back an early voter his ID in Valdosta, Georgia, U.S., October 24, 2018. REUTERS/Lawrence Bryant
“We took action on relevant accounts and activity on Twitter,” a Twitter spokesman said in an email. The removals took place in late September and early October.

Twitter removed more than 10,000 accounts, according to three sources familiar with the Democrats' effort. The number is modest, considering that Twitter has previously deleted millions of accounts it determined were responsible for spreading misinformation in the 2016 U.S. presidential election.

Yet the removals represent an early win for a fledgling effort by the Democratic Congressional Campaign Committee, or DCCC, a party group that supports Democrats running for the U.S. House of Representatives.

The DCCC launched the effort this year in response to the party's inability to respond to millions of accounts on Twitter and other social media platforms that spread negative and false information about Democratic presidential candidate Hillary Clinton and other party candidates in 2016, three people familiar with the operation told Reuters.

While the prevalence of misinformation campaigns have so far been modest in the run-up to the Congressional elections on Nov. 6, Democrats are hoping the flagging operation will help them react quickly if there is a flurry of such messages in the coming days.

The Tweets included ones that discouraged Democratic men from voting, saying that would drown out the voice of women, according to two of the sources familiar with the flagging operation.

The DCCC developed its own system for identifying and reporting malicious automated accounts on social media, according to the three party sources.

The system was built in part from publicly available tools known as “Hoaxley” and “Botometer” developed by University of Indiana computer researchers. They allow a user to identify automated accounts, also known as bots, and analyze how they spread information on specific topics.

“We made Hoaxley and Botometer free for anyone to use because people deserve to know what's a bot and what's not,” said Filippo Menczer, professor of informatics and computer science at the University of Indiana.

The Democratic National Committee works with a group of contractors and partners to rapidly identify misinformation campaigns.

They include RoBhat Labs, a firm whose website says it has developed technology capable of detecting bots and identifying political-bias in messages.

The collaboration with RoBhat has already led to the discovery of malicious accounts and posts, which were referred to social media companies and other campaign officials, DNC Chief Technology Officer Raffi Krikorian said in email.

The reception at the Henn na Hotel east of Tokyo is eerily quiet until customers approach the robot dinosaurs manning the front desk. Their sensors detect the motion and they bellow “Welcome.” might be about the weirdest check-in experience possible, but that’s exactly the point at the Henn na (whose name means ‘weird’) chain, which bills itself as offering the world’s first hotels staffed by robots.

The front desk staff are a pair of giant dinosaurs that look like cast members of the Jurassic Park movies, except for the tiny bellboy hats perched on their heads. The robo-dinos process check-ins through a tablet system that also allows customers to choose which language—Japanese, English, Chinese or Korean—they want to use to communicate with the multilingual robots.

The effect is bizarre, with the large dinosaurs gesticulating with their long arms and issuing tinny set phrases. Yukio Nagai, manager at the Henn na Hotel Maihama Tokyo Bay, admits some customers find it slightly unnerving.

“We haven’t quite figured out when exactly the guests want to be served by people, and when it’s okay to be served by robots,” he told AFP.

But for other guests the novelty is the charm: each room is staffed with mini-robots that look a bit like spherical Star Wars droid BB-8, and help guests with everything from changing channels to playing music.

Even the fish are robotic with electric lights on their battery-powered bodies.

Even the fish swimming in the lobby run on batteries, with electric lights in their articulated bodies flickering on and off as they work their way around giant tanks.

“The dinosaurs looked intriguing, and I thought my son would love it,” said Chigusa Hosoi, who was at the hotel with her three-year-old.

“My son is really happy. There’s an egg-shaped robot inside the room. He was playing with it a lot.”

The first Henn na Hotel opened in Nagasaki in 2015, and was certified the following year by Guinness World Records as the world’s first hotel with robots on its staff.

The travel agency group that operates the chain now runs eight hotels across the country, all with robots on the staff, some of them dinosaurs, but others taking a more humanoid shape.

The Henn na Hotel in Nagasaki was certified by Guinness World Records as the world’s first hotel with robots on staff. Some humans are also on call to intervene in case of glitches, which customer reviews online suggest are a not infrequent problem at check-in.

But Nagai said relying on robots for everything from front desk duty to cleaning had proved an efficient choice in a country with a shrinking labour market. “It’s becoming difficult to secure enough labour at hotels. To solve that problem, we have robots serving guests.” (Courtesy <https://phys.org/news>)

First mentioned by Chinese President Xi Jinping during a state visit to Kazakhstan five years ago, the Belt and Road Initiative (or BRI) celebrates its birthday this week. Backers of the biggest infrastructure build-out the world has ever witnessed have worked hard at promoting it, although some of their efforts have missed the mark, including a children’s song that was mocked in the Western media this summer. “Everybody let’s make friends,” the kids beg. “Take my hand, and let’s dance all night.” The problem for policymakers is that plenty of people need more convincing to about the Belt and Road, amid criticism that the plan is poorly conceived. Critics of the policy have asked why it needs such a hard sell if it is really such a boon, while others describe it as a ‘debt trap’ designed to deceive its participants. Cancellation of one of the biggest projects in Malaysia last month proved awkward for the anniversary too. But back in China the mood was more bullish, as Xi defended his signature policy at a gathering of African leaders this week, before doubling down on his promises to partner with nations via BRI investments.

Has the BRI been a success?
Unfortunately there’s no straightforward way for tracking how it is progressing. Chinese officials talk mostly about topline investment in the plan and debtor countries don’t disclose their loans in any detail. Chinese lenders, including the Asia Infrastructure Investment Bank, have showcased some of the key financings but there’s no authoritative breakdown of how all the capital has been allocated or how the projects are performing.

African delegates walk by a screen panel showing a footage of Chinese President Xi Jinping with Ethiopia’s Prime Minister Abiy Ahmed ahead of the Forum on China-Africa Cooperation in Beijing, Monday, Sept. 3, 2018. African leaders will likely press their Chinese hosts at a conference this week to help narrow their trade deficits with Beijing by shifting more manufacturing to their continent, the chief executive of the biggest African bank said. China celebrated the fifth anniversary of the Belt and Road Initiative this week.

Wong) THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
Unsurprisingly, the propaganda push from media like China Global Television Network, the international incarnation of state broadcaster CCTV, is that things are going even better than expected. “The Belt and Road Initiative is like welcome rain after a long drought,” it ventured last week, before switching metaphors to describe how friends of the programme have been getting a “free ride on the Chinese fast-train”. Railways are a feature in the anniversary coverage, which has tried to talk about some of the outcomes of the initiative, including the 10,000th journey involving freight trains between China and Europe. Other newspapers also talked about the savings in travel time on Belt and Road journeys, courtesy of freshly dug tunnels through the mountains of Uzbekistan, or newly laid track along the Kenyan coast. In loftier prose, the Chinese media has championed BRI as an opportunity for all, with benefits that more than transcend the train timetables. “The BRI focuses on promoting the connectivity of the land, sea, air and the internet,” China’s state television channel enthused in the kind of celebration that makes critics of Belt and Road cringe. “It

Other countries have been celebrating too?
Repayment questions first came to the fore in Sri Lanka, when the Sirisena government reneged on commitments run up by its predecessor. After protracted negotiations, the Chinese swapped some of their loans for equity in the Hambantota port zone. The status of more than $60 billion in spending on transport and energy projects in Pakistan also looks a little precarious (the so-called China Pakistan Economic Corridor, or CPEC). The central bank there has reserves of less than $10 billion, or enough for about two months of imports, which raises questions as to how Islamabad is going to meet its financial commitments after borrowing another $5 billion from the Chinese in the latest fiscal year alone. On similar lines, Myanmar’s finance minister told the press in July that plans for another new port on the Bay of Bengal would be “slimmed down” because his country’s obligations to the Chinese already amounted to about 40% of its external debt (“not recommendable”, the minister suggested). China’s Xi Pledges $60 Billion in Financing for Africa

Chinese President Xi Jinping has pledged $60 billion in loans, grants and investment for projects in Africa

BELJING (AP) — Chinese president Xi Jinping on Monday pledged $60 billion in financing for projects in Africa in the form of assistance, investment and loans, as China furthers efforts to link the continent’s economic prospects to its own. Speaking to a gathering of African leaders in Beijing, Xi said the figure includes $15 billion in grants, interest-free loans and concessional loans, $20 billion in credit lines, $10 billion for “development financing” and $5 billion to buy imports from Africa. In addition, he said China will encourage companies to invest at least $10 billion in Africa over the next three years. China’s outreach to Africa aims to build trade, investment and political ties with a continent often seen as overlooked by the U.S. and other Western nations. That has provided lucrative opportunities for Chinese businesses, while African nations are often happy to accept China’s offers that come without demands for safeguards against corruption, waste and environmental damage. No details were given on specific projects, although Xi said China was planning initiatives in eight areas, including providing $147 million in emergency food aid, sending 500 agricultural experts to Africa, and providing scholarships, vocational training and trade promotion opportunities. The pledge comes on top of a 2015 promise to provide African countries with $60 billion in funding that Xi said had either been delivered or arranged. Also Monday, Xi promoted Beijing’s initiative to build ports and other infrastructure as a tool for “common prosperity” in a world facing challenges from trade protectionism.

Addressing businesspeople prior to the formal opening of the Forum on China-Africa Cooperation, Xi said the “Belt and Road” initiative will expand markets. He tried to mollify concern that Beijing wants to build strategic influence, promising Chinese investment comes with “no political strings attached.” “Unilateralism and protectionism are on the rise. Economic growth lacks robust drive,” Xi said in a speech. “China-Africa cooperation under the BRI is a way to common prosperity that brings benefits to both our peoples.” African and other Asian leaders have welcomed “Belt and Road” but some projects have prompted complaints about debt and other problems. The initiative involves hundreds of projects, most of them built by Chinese contractors and financed by loans from Chinese state-owned banks, across an arc of 65 countries from the South Pacific through Asia to Africa and the Middle East. In a major blow to China’s ambitions, Malaysia recently canceled Chinese-financed projects worth more than $20 billion, saying they were unnecessary and would create an unsustainable debt burden. Deeply indebted Pakistan is also reportedly reconsidering some projects in the multi-billion dollar China-Pakistan Economic Corridor that is a key link in the BRI. The Beijing forum brings together leaders from China and more than 50 African countries. Dozens of African leaders met with Xi ahead of the conference. Xi made no mention of the political and debt concerns that overshadow some BRI projects. But Chinese officials previously have rejected accusations that projects leave host countries too deeply indebted to Chinese lenders. “China’s investment in Africa comes with no political strings attached,” Xi said. “China does not interfere in Africa’s internal affairs and does not impose its own will on Africa.” (Courtesy <https://www.usnews.com>)

冲奥!《大世界》發黃海設計藝術海報

導演劉健動畫新作《上大學》首曝進展

美國電影藝術與科學學院近日公布了角逐第 91 屆奧斯卡最佳動畫長片獎的影片名單，共有 25 部來自世界各地的動畫影片入圍，由中國導演劉健執導的《大世界》在列。片方為此發布了由海報設計大師黃海操刀的藝術海報。

海報中最引人註目的是畫面正中央的兩大塊血紅欲滴生肉，肉的顏色生猛刺目，象征著塵世中洶湧的物欲。肉的背後有兩個人影形成對峙，右邊的人影被生肉遮住了臉，他手中緊緊攥著壹把指向對手的刀子，身體卻向後怯縮著，左邊的人影則相反，他赤手空拳卻筆直站立，清晰的側面輪廓使他看上去神秘而堅定，壹場交鋒壹觸即發。兩人身後的背景牆上是水墨潑灑的血跡，黑色、浪漫而危險。

這款海報由黃海設計，他因《黃金時代》、《太陽照常升起》《捉妖記》《壹代宗師》等海報作品成為中國知名度最高的電影海報設計師。

《大世界》由導演劉健自編自導，歷時三年手繪制作完成。在入選奧斯卡最佳動畫長片之前，於 2017 年 1 月成功入圍第 67 屆柏林電影節主競賽單元，是華語影史唯壹部入圍三大國際電影節（戛納，柏林，威尼斯）主競賽單元的動畫長片。同年 11 月，影片獲得第 54

屆金馬獎三項提名，並最終獲得最佳動畫長片獎。目前，《大世界》已經入圍四十多個國際電影節，並在全球三十多個國家上映。這樣的成績，也許會讓《大世界》成為華語動畫長片離奧斯卡最近的壹部。

據悉，繼《大世界》之後，劉健導演的第三部動畫長片作品《上大學》也正在緊鑼密鼓的制作當中。影片延續了他壹貫鮮明的個人風格，卻不再聚焦於犯罪事件，講述了普通人都可能有過的成長經歷和內心狀態，是壹部充滿懷舊色彩的青春成長電影。

影片講述了 90 年代初期，南方藝術學院美術系學生張小軍，在懵懂又美好的青春時光裏，經歷了友情與愛情、理想與現實，藝術追求與自我表達的種種困境之後，最終收穫自我成長的故事。

據制片方透露，和劉健導演之前的作品相比，《上大學》在制作方面將會更加精良，鏡頭數更多，剪輯節奏更快，因為講述的是青春故事，畫風也將從黑色浪漫轉向明亮的浪漫。

《上大學》此前已經入圍亞洲電影投資會（HAF），這是亞洲範圍內最有影響力的項目創投平臺，寧浩、姜文、文牧野的影片項目在早期籌備階段都曾入圍這個平臺。據悉，《上大學》的制作將持續 3 年，於 2020 年或 2021 年上映。

彭於晏為林超賢新片《緊急救援》特訓壹身肌肉展露無疑

今天有著“魔鬼導演”之稱的林超賢發布了壹組彭於晏在海邊為電影《緊急救援》訓練的照片，身穿背心短褲的他壹身肌肉展露無疑，難道這就是奔跑的荷爾蒙？

據悉，《緊急救援》是壹部講述中國救撈精神的交通大片，制作體量或將翻倍。此前林超賢曾特別介紹電影將在 11 月開機，他為此已經籌備了非常長的時間。

破，新的挑戰，我可以肯定的和各位說，呈現的效果將比《紅海行動》翻幾倍。這次影片中的特效量，很多海上的場景等等都是我們第壹次經歷，我希望可以做到我們中國電影另外壹個大家從來沒有見過的題材。”

《緊急救援》預計會在明年 5 月拍攝完成，之後進行 8 個月的後期制作。主演除了彭於晏，其他演員都未公布，但林超賢早就表示：“能吃苦自然是首要條件。”

校園驚悚電影《開學悸》玩轉“戲中戲”套層結構重溫經典校園恐怖

由北京龍嶽影視文化有限公司、北京瑞格嘉尚文化傳播有限公司出品的校園驚悚電影《開學悸》今日宣布定檔 11 月 9 日全國上映，該片以大學校園傳說為主題，講述了發生在三所高校中的三個恐怖傳說。電影由兩位新人導演劉鼎業、高朋共同執導，從多種“校園怪談”中提煉出精華部分，並以新壹代導演的角度傳達自己對校園恐怖驚悚片的理解。玩轉“戲中戲”套層結構 重溫經典校園恐怖

《開學悸》由《傷疤》、《相見》和《自習室》三個故事組成，以風靡壹時的真實校園怪談為題材，使這些古老的傳說在不同的時空中重現活力。影片以女生桃子獨自在自習室等待男友的場景展開，男友在電話中給桃子講了兩個校園中的恐怖傳說，直到兩個故事結束，男友都沒有出現，而與此同時，壹個黑影正從桃子的身後慢慢接近她，就此展開了影片的第三個故事。

除了詭異而神秘的“戲中戲”成為本片的亮點之壹，本次曝光的定檔海報也十分吸睛。畫面整體呈灰暗色調，只有壹盞燈發出微弱的昏黃燈光，洗手池冒出濃密的黑色長發，微露出蒼白的

額頭，布滿碎痕的長方形鏡子和開裂的破舊牆壁，種種元素引人散發無限遐想。

《開學悸》的制作出發點，旨在對青春驚悚進行全新的詮釋，而不僅僅停留在驚悚表面，而是加入更多新鮮的元素，充分豐富了電影內核，表達出更多屬於校園的青春情懷。相比單純的驚悚，本片更想要突出的元素是“青春”，青春的內涵是多元化的，它可以是浪漫的，也可以是黑暗的。每個人對青春的理解都不同，甚至是獨壹無二的，電影《開學悸》則通過壹組組置於校園場景下的鏡頭，喚醒觀眾心中關於“青春”的那塊最柔軟的地方，體味出青春的多變與失則不復返。
