Trump seeks to move ahead with big speech despite Pelosi shutdown concerns

WASHINGTON (Reuters) - President Donald Trump on Tuesday attempted to move ahead with planning for a State of the Union speech to the U.S. Congress on Jan. 29 despite pressure from Democrats to delay it due to the partial government shutdown. Republican Majority Leader Mitch McConnell said he would bring up Trump's proposal for ending the shutdown - and getting funding for the president's promised border wall - for a vote on Thursday. The plan was unlikely to pass in the Senate and had even less chance in the Democratic-dominated House of Representatives. Trump's cause was hurt on Tuesday by a U.S. Supreme Court ruling regarding "Dreamers," people brought illegally to the United States as children and who had been a key bargaining chip for the Republican president in his wall-funding battle.

No clear way was evident to end the shutdown, which began on Dec. 22, increasing the anxiety level of 800,000 federal workers who are furloughed with some struggling to make ends meet. As the fight over the border wall and government funding raged, a sideshow over Trump's upcoming State of the Union speech also boiled over.

A Trump administration official said the president still intends to deliver that speech on Jan. 29, even though House Speaker Nancy Pelosi, the top U.S. Democrat, had recommended he delay it, citing concerns about security for the event with some personnel furloughed during a monthlong shutdown.

An administration official said the White House sought to have pre-speech preparations completed on Capitol Hill.

The request seemed likely to set up another clash between Trump and Pelosi, days after Trump abruptly refused to let her use a U.S. military plane to go on an overseas trip hours before she was to a court battle.

Democrats promptly rejected Trump's plan as saving they would not trade a temporary restoration of the immigrants' protections in return for a permanent border wall that they view as ineffective.

BARGAINING CHIP

Trump may have lost the Dreamer issue as his main negotiating point on Tuesday when the Supreme Court refused, at least for now, to consider an administration appeal of lower court rulings allowing continued temporary protections for the immigrant youths.

Instead, the Deferred Action for Childhood Arrivals program established by then-President Barack Obama in 2012 lives on with or without approval by Congress.

As the Senate debates Trump's proposal, House Democrats this week are pushing legislation that would end the partial shutdown of agencies including the departments of Justice, Homeland Security, Agriculture, Commerce, Labor and Interior.

While their legislation would contain new border security money, there would be nothing for a wall, ensuring Trump's opposition. Once the government reopens, Democrats said, they would negotiate with Trump on further border security ideas.

"We were optimistic that he might be open up government so we could have this discussion," Pelosi told reporters in comments carried by CNN. "But then we heard what the particulars were in it and it was a non-starter, unfortunately."

SEOUL (Reuters) - South Korea will hold its largest ever investigation into sexual abuse in sports, its human rights watchdog said on Tuesday, after an Olympic speed skating star accused her former coach of abuse triggered a wave of similar accounts from athletes.

The inquiry will aim to address "systematic, sustained" abuse in sports, which had been hushed up for generations by victims afraid of being banished from their sport, said Choi Young-ae, chairwoman of the National Human Rights Commission.

"We will conduct a fact-finding inquiry that will be the largest in scale ever," Choi told a news confer-

A commission official said up to about 30,000 people - athletes from all sports, coaches, officials and others - are likely to be interviewed over the course of the year-long investigation.

The #MeToo movement has taken off belatedly in male-dominated South Korea where discussion of sexual misconduct has long been taboo.

But the issue exploded in the world of sports after Shim Suk-hee, 21, accused her former coach, Cho Jae-beom, of sexual assault.

Cho, a former national short track speed skating coach, had already been convicted of assaulting the two-time Olympic champion - punching and kicking her during training - and jailed for 10 months in Septem

In December, Shim made accusations of sexual abuse against him. Cho denied the accusation of sexual abuse, media cited his lawyer as saying. Since then, more athletes from various sports, including judo and archery, have come forward with accounts of assault and sexual abuse, media has

Oil drops nearly 3 percent on rising supplies, China slowdown

HOUSTON (Reuters) - Oil prices fell 3 percent on Tuesday over concerns the world's stumbling economy could pinch fuel demand as U.S. crude output climbs to new heights and cuts by Saudi Arabia and its allies are smaller than advertised.

Gloomy new global growth forecasts by the International Monetary Fund and signs of a spreading slowdown in China weighed on crude prices as traders worried about supplies rising in 2019 despite lower prices.

Brent oil futures LCOc1 were down $1.82, or 2.9 percent, at $60.92 a barrel by 1:45 p.m. EST (1845 GMT). U.S. West Texas Intermediate (WTI) crude futures CLc1 fell $1.57, or 2.9 percent, to $52.23.

Data from Saudi Arabia on Monday showed its crude exports in November rose to 8.2 million barrels per day from 7.7 million bpd in October, as production climbed to 11.1 million bpd.

U.S. government data last week showed the nation's crude production reached a record 11.9 million bpd.

"They weren't expecting that (nearly 12 million bpd production record) for a few months," said Tariq Zahir, managing member at Tyche Capital in New York. "We saw a very large drop in (U.S. oil drilling) rigs on Friday, but it comes down to whether Saudi Arabia is really going to do these cuts."

Market concerns over the depth of production cuts by the Organization of Petroleum Exporting Countries and its allies, including Russia, were also driving prices lower on Tuesday, analysts said.

Russia's Energy Minister Alexander Novak will not fly to Switzerland to attend the Davos world economic forum due to changes in his schedule, an energy ministry spokes-

Novak had previously said he would meet his Saudi counterpart Khalid al-Falih in Davos, if the minister were to attend.

Falih, who has criticized Russia's output cuts as being slower than expected, was also unlikely to visit, according to a Bloomberg report.

"There's speculation those two might not see eye to eye," said Robert Yawger, director of energy futures at Mizuho in New York. "The Russians are not cutting with the same enthusiasm that the Saudis are."

he United States has topped Russia and Saudi Arabia as the largest producer in the world, growing production by almost 2.4 million bpd over the past year, according to the U.S. Energy Information Adminis-

Seventy percent of the senior energy industry executives plan to boost or maintain capital spending this year, compared with 39 percent in 2017, a survey by advisor DNV GL showed this week.

"Despite greater oil price volatility in recent months, our research shows that the sector appears confident in its ability to better cope with market instability and long-term lower oil and gas prices," said Liv Hovem, who heads DNV's oil and gas division. DEMAND CONCERNS

The International Monetary Fund on Monday warned the risk of a pronounced global slowdown has risen because of constrained international trade, and it trimmed its 2019 global growth forecast to 3.5 percent, from 3.7 percent in last October's outlook.

IMF Managing Director Christine Lagarde said in Davos that the slowing growth does not signal an impending recession, but said the risk of "a sharper decline" in global growth has increased.

China reported the lowest annual economic growth in nearly 30 years on Monday and its state planner warned on Tuesday that falling factory orders point to a further drop in activity and more job losses. Singapore-based tanker brokerage Eastport said China's slowing manufacturing activity is likely weighing on demand.

Gloomy outlook, few world leaders at Davos 2019 "There's a lot of concern in the oil market about China's weaker economic data," said Phillip Streible, senior market strategist at RJO Futures. "It's economic expansion is the weakest since 1990."

A Chinese investigation says the scientist behind the birth of two babies whose genes had been edited in hopes of making them resistant to the AIDS virus acted on his own 'for personal fame and profit' and will be punished for violating regulations.

Confirming the births, the official Xinhua News Agency said Monday that investigators in the southern province of Guangdong determined Dr He Jiankui organised and handled funding for the experiment without outside assistance in violation of national guidelines. The university He worked for said he had been fired.

The scientist sparked global controversy in November when he announced in a You-Tube video that he had successfully used a gene-editing technology known as CRIS-PR-Cas9 to alter the embryonic genes of twin girls born that month.

One of the mothers gave birth to twins nicknamed 'Lulu' and 'Nana', the investigators said. Another woman is still carrying a gene-edited fetus. The Xinhua report said all three would remain under obser-

The government halted work at his lab and is carrying out an investigation, saying it would take a 'zero tolerance attitude in dealing with dishonourable behaviour' in research.

The investigation by the Health Commission of China concluded that He had 'organised a project team that included foreign staff, which intentionally avoided surveillance and used technology of uncertain safety and effectiveness to perform human embryo gene-editing activity with

The report didn't say which regulations He might have violated but added that his staff and organisations related to his project would be punished according to laws and regulations.

'This behavior seriously violates ethics and the integrity of scientific research, is in serious violation of relevant national regulations and creates a pernicious influence at home and abroad,' the report said.

The Southern University of Science and Technology (SUSTech) in the city of Shenzhen, said in a statement on its website that He had been fired.

'Effective immediately, SUSTech will rescind the work contract with Dr. Jiankui He and terminate any of his teaching and research activities at SUSTech,' the statement said, adding that the decision came after a preliminary investigation by the Guangdong Province Investigation Task

Dr He was trained as a physicist, not a biologist, and was therefore unqualified and likely unable to carry out the research himself.

It is believed he used his own £40 million fortune to fund the project and privately recruited highly-trained scientific professionals to carry out the research.

Little is known about the research which staggered scientists for its brazen flaunting of every rule and guideline on ethics and legality in genetics.

The whereabouts of the Chinese researcher have been a mystery since November. Reports claimed He was placed under effective house arrest in Shenzhen after making an appearance at the Second International Summit on Human Genome Editing in Hong Kong in late November.

He and his family are living in university housing on the grounds of Southern University of Science and Technology in Shenzhen, with guards stationed outside his apartment, according to a recent Bloomberg report citing Dr William Hurlbut, an adjunct professor at Stanford Medical School who has been in touch with the Chinese scientist.

and in the process of the investigation, he's being treated respectfully,' Dr Hurlbut, a neurobiologist whom Dr He had consulted over the past two years on his genetics research, told reporters. Gene editing for reproductive purposes is effectively banned in the US and most of Europe. In China, ministerial guidelines prohibit embryo research that 'violates ethical or moral principles.

The chief of the World Health Organiza-

'We have a big part of our population who say, 'Don't touch," Tedros told reporters. 'We have to be very, very careful, and the working group will do that.' (Courtesy https://www.dailymail.co.uk/)

BUSINESS

China has offered to go on a six-year buying spree to ramp up imports from the U.S., in a move that would reconfigure the relationship between the world's two largest economies, according to officials familiar with the negotiations.

By increasing goods imports from the U.S. by a combined value of more than $1 trillion over that period, China would seek to reduce its trade surplus -- which last year stood at $323 billion -- to zero by 2024, one of the people said. The officials asked not to be named as the discussions aren't

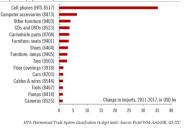

The offer, made during talks in Beijing earlier this month, was met with skepticism by U.S. negotiators who nonetheless asked the Chinese to do even better, demanding that the imbalance be cleared in the next two years, the people said. Economists who've studied the trade relationship argue it would be hard to eliminate the gap, which they say is sustained in large part by U.S. demand for Chinese products.

U.S. stocks extended gains and the dollar rose following the news. The S&P 500 Index rallied, climbing 1.3 percent by 1:27 p.m. and heading for its fourth weekly advance, while the dollar traded at session

Minding the Trade Gap

America's trade gap with China eclipses its deficit with other trading partners

Chart 3: What has driven the USD100bn increase in imports from China since 2011? Cell phones played an important role

Note: Data are for 2017, goods only.

It's not the first time China has made an offer to reduce the deficit as a way of trying to break the deadlock between the sides which has darkened the global economic outlook and roiled financial markets since last year. In May, Trump scrapped a framework for a deal negotiated by Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin that would have seen China "significantly" increase purchases of U.S. goods. By agreeing to buy more goods from the U.S., China may just shift its trade surplus toward other trading partners, said Tom Orlik, the chief economist for Bloomberg Economics.

China's "Buying Spree" Offer Made In Early January -But U.S. Officials Want Trade Gap Closed Sooner

China Offers A Path To Eliminate U.S. Trade Imbalance, Sources Say

Compiled And Edited By John T. Robbins, Southern Daily Editor

"If China switches its imports from other countries to the U.S. -- less Brazilian soybeans, more U.S. soybeans -- that might help deal with their bilateral problem with the U.S., but at the expense of worsening imbalances with other countries," he said. Additionally, the types of products that China offers to buy more of could matter more than the overall target for a dollar amount, Orlik said. Airplanes, soybeans and automobiles were among China's top U.S. imports last year.

"Over the years, China has used the offer of purchasing more technologies with national security applications as a gambit in trade negotiations," said Orlik. "That's always been unacceptable to the U.S. because of the strategic costs."

Failed Attempt

Even a massive buying binge would likely fail to eliminate the trade deficit with China, said Brad Setser, who served as deputy assistant secretary for international economic analysis in the Treasury during the Obama administration.

It's not clear how quickly U.S. farmers and companies would be able to meet increased Chinese demand, he said. Increasing exports of soybeans would require more land dedicated to growing the crop and investment in storage capacity. Likewise, exporting more LNG to China would demand a surge in investment in export terminals. For Boeing, which has been straining to meet existing orders for its planes, it would likely mean adding a new plant.

In May, Trump scrapped a framework for a deal negotiated by Treasury Secretary Steven Mnuchin (above) that would ### have seen China "significantly" increase purchases of U.S. goods.

Moreover, none of that would address U.S. demand for Chinese-produced goods and China's control of the assembly of products such as smartphones and laptops, or some of the main drivers of the U.S. trade deficit. Shifting production or final assembly to a place such as Vietnam would do a lot to reduce the U.S. deficit with China but it would potentially be illusory.

Closing the trade gap "would require enormous changes and it would require and all out effort to get a Chinese industrial policy to disguise China's exports to the U.S. by routing them elsewhere," said Setser, who is now at the Council on Foreign Relations. "You can't get rid of the bilateral deficit unless you shift the location of final electronics assembly out of China. The math doesn't work."

Decisions Pending

No decisions were finalized in the latest Beijing talks and discussions are set to continue at the end of January, when Chinese Vice Premier Liu He is scheduled to travel to Washington.

The U.S. will miss an opportunity for discussions with its trading partners after President Donald Trump canceled his trip and the U.S. delegation's visit to the World Economic Forum in Dayos next week amid the partial government shutdown. While no plans were disclosed for negotiations, Chinese Vice President Wang Qishan is due to attend the Davos summit.

There's no clear sign that such an offer would now have a greater chance of success or even if it's practically feasible. U.S. negotiators are also focused on matters including China's alleged intellectual-property malpractices and state support of industry, disputes that are much harder to bridge. The Americans' major sticking points were more prominent issues than China's import plans during the latest round of talks in Beijing, one of the people said.

The offer implies raising the annual import total from $155 billion to around $200 billion in 2019 and in increasing steps thereafter, reaching an annual total of about $600 billion by 2024, one of the people said.

The Commerce Ministry in Beijing didn't immediately respond to request for comment on the negotiation details. The office of the U.S. Trade Representative didn't immediately respond to a request for comment. (Courtesy https://www.bloomberg.

"苦戀"!歡笑之余虐哭妳 "撒糖"! 阮經天鐘楚曦默契十足

除了成龍大哥飾演的蒲松齡負責的"奇幻" "捉妖"部分,阮經天、鐘楚曦將負責這出新春合 家歡大戲的情感線。兩人將在片中上演壹段淒美的 愛情故事,這也惹得兩人現場調侃"其他人負責笑 哈哈,我倆負責苦兮兮"。雖然片中是場"虐戀", 現場兩人卻默契十足,頻頻"撒糖"。對於兩人在

采訪中, 男主角陳哲遠透露 自己的角色性格比較內斂,而作 為"戰神",卻需要在劇中負責 "打架",所以在劇中壹直"受 傷"。問及劇外是否遇到拍攝風 險時,陳哲遠表示都是小傷,自 己不好意思講出來。但是同劇組 拍攝過程中,陳哲遠受傷劃破了 流了很多血,卻壹直堅持著沒有 班現場,劇組正在拍攝牢獄中 停止拍攝。談及拍攝現場的趣 事,陳哲遠透露女主角李墨之 瘦,令他感到震驚,而搭檔晏紫 東很可愛,私下會做賣些小孩子 改編程度較大,希望原著粉不要 的動作和語氣,以至於自己沒辦 法把他當成哥哥對待。

《知否》"林小娘"下線引高潮 高露稱假量是即興

"XX下線/領盒飯"上微博熱搜,已 經成為熱播劇的指定動作。這除了說明劇 集火爆,也證明下線角色深入人心。眼下 正在湖南衛視熱播的《知否知否應是綠肥 紅瘦》,前晚就迎來劇迷歡送"林小娘" 下線的小高潮。出演過無數配角的高露 這次憑"林小娘"終於小火了壹把。

演林小娘皆因不臉譜化、很女人

與直性子、為人處事風風火火而成為 廣大網友新表情包的盛家"大娘子"王若 弗(劉琳飾)不同,劇中,高露飾演的 "林小娘"林禽霜,外表看似柔弱,實則 工於心計。擅於"做戲",讓她深得盛家 老爺盛纮的寵愛,並以壹個寵妾的身份在 家中耀武揚威。此前在不少都市劇中,高露 都是知性幹練的形象,但這次畫風截然 不同的林小娘,卻讓她比之前在《外科 娘,比較搭。"

該劇導演張開宙找到她時,她也有疑惑, "之後跟他聊天,他說不想找比較臉 譜化的演員,其次是覺得小娘這個角 色壹定要很女人。"高露也說不清自 己身上具體哪些"很女人"的特質讓 導演拍板定了她,但決定出演之後, 她就想著好好塑造角色,最後呈現了 壹個"嫵媚而不風塵"的林小娘。

《知否》至今播出過半,作為配角 的大小娘子表現搶眼。與劇中妻妾勢成 水火的關系不同,高露笑說,和"大娘子" 劉琳私底下關系很好。至於兩人意外成為 本劇的"流量擔當",高露也表示,"我 記得當時導演跟我們說,林小娘、大娘 子,纮郎,希望(我們仨)以喜劇的 形式呈現人物和他們之間的關系。我

們私底下也沒討論過什麼,但跟兩位 能也只會跟我的孩子。" 老師壹上來演對手戲,就會覺得她就 是大娘子,他就是纮郎,我就是林小

裝哭是真哭,假暈則是即興

為了演活林小娘,高露也為人物做 了壹些細節設計,包括站姿、坐姿、言談舉 止等都頗有講究,"站姿上面,我的壹 條腿,不管是左邊還是右邊的腿,反正 總有壹條腿可能壹直是弓著的。我覺得 小娘應該是有點三道彎的感覺,這樣可 以增加她嫵媚的形象。"包括她每次在盛 老爺面前的"裝哭",高露都盡力做到 "真哭","只要是能哭出來的,我都 哭,都是很認真對待。可能在某些細節 點上,我會有壹些反差,讓大家看得出來 是真的動情的。這就是小娘的厲害之處, 也是她在老爺面前可以得寵多年的壹個法 寶。"林小娘在劇中的撒嬌功力,大娘子 想學學不來,感嘆術業有專攻,但高露則 自認本人不太會撒嬌, "要撒嬌的話,可

劇中,林小娘每每犯錯都以情動人, 展示柔弱,讓盛老爺"護短"。在高露 看來,林小娘在人前"做戲"也是這個 角色最具挑戰的部分, "小娘最難演的 應該是戲中戲。因為她在盛纮面前壹直 難拿捏的。"而聊到林小娘臨下線前 "假暈護女"的壹場戲,高露透露

"那個假暈真的是現場即興,看到劇本 裏寫量,我能夠在腦子裏有畫面,但是 不確定表現出來的能有多少。沒想到最 後演出來的效果還挺好的,也帶給我了 驚喜,挺開心的。"

終其壹生都在設計別人的林小娘, 在高露看來也是悲情人物,"她是妾室, 以掌控全家。但是最終,她把所有期望都 寄托在女兒身上。我能理解作為壹個母親 望子成龍的心,但是不太認可她的做法,
