Wall Street gains on hopes of coronavirus slowdown

(Reuters) - Wall Street rose on Tuesday on early signs of the coronavirus outbreak plateauing in some of biggest U.S. hot spots, with the New York governor saying social distancing measures to curtail the spread of the virus were working.

The S&P 500 was set for its biggest two-day gain in nearly two weeks, building on a 7% jump on Monday, as health officials also said the pandemic may kill fewer Americans than recent projections.

Gains were led by the energy, materials and financials sectors, with an aggressive round of U.S. fiscal and monetary stimulus in the past month also boosting risk appetite.

"The rally is sentimental and a little premature because if we lift these lockdown measures too soon and try to resume economic activity, we're going to get a very severe pandemic rebound," said Indranil Ghosh, chief executive officer of Tiger Hill Capital in London.

The S&P 500 is up about 22% from March intraday lows, but remains 19% below its mid-February record high as strict stay-at-home orders crushed demand across industries including airlines, automakers and hotels.

At 1:26 p.m. ET the Dow Jones Industrial Average was up 626.56 points, or 2.76%, at 23,306.55, the S&P 500 was up 63.85 points, or 2.40%, at 2,727.53 and the Nasdaq Composite was up 143.16 points, or 1.81%, at 8,056.40.

Wall Street's fear gauge has steadily retreated from 12-year peaks, but volatility is expected to remain high as companies prepare to report an expected slide in first-quarter earnings and outline more drastic plans to bolster cash reserves.

"I'd like to think that the bottom is behind us, but I wouldn't say that's necessarily the case," said Bert Brenner, director of asset allocation strategy at People's United Advisors in Bridgeport, Connecticut. Analysts now expect first-quarter earnings for S&P 500 firms to fall 6.4% compared to a Jan. 1 forecast for a rise of 6.3%.

Exxon Mobil throttled back a multiyear investment spree in shale, LNG and deep water oil production, saying it would cut planned capital spending this year by 30% as the pandemic saps energy demand.

Oilfield services firm Halliburton Co said it would cut about 350 jobs in Oklahoma and that its executives would reduce their salaries.

UK PM Johnson 'stable' in intensive care, needed oxygen after COVID-19 worsened

LONDON (Reuters) - British foreign minister Dominic Raab said on Tuesday he was confident that Prime Minister Boris Johnson, in intensive care with a coronavirus infection, would pull through because "he's a fighter".

"He remained stable overnight. He's receiving standard oxygen treatment and breathing without any assistance. He has not required any mechanical ventilation or non-invasive respiratory support," Raab told a daily news conference.

Johnson's personal battle with the virus has shaken the government just as the United Kingdom, now in its third week of virtual lockdown, enters what scientists say will be the deadliest phase of its coronavirus epidemic, which has already killed at least 6,159 people.

Johnson, 55, was admitted to St Thomas' Hospital, across the River Thames from parliament, late on Sunday after suffering symptoms, including a fever and a cough, for more than 10 days.

But his condition rapidly deteriorated, and he was moved on Monday to an intensive care unit, where the most serious cases are treated, in case he needed to be put on a ventilator.

"He remains in good spirits and ... his progress continues to be monitored in critical care," Raab said.

WHO LEADS?

The absence of Johnson, the first leader of a major power to be admitted to hospital with COVID-19, the illness caused by the novel coronavirus, has raised questions about who is truly in charge at such a crucial time.

While Britain has no formal succession plan if a prime minister is incapacitated, Johnson asked Raab, 46, to deputise for him "where necessary", Downing Street said. If Raab is incapacitated, finance minister Rishi Sunak would stand in.

"I'm confident that he'll pull through because, if there's one thing I know about this prime minister, he's a fighter," Raab said. "He'll be back at the helm leading us through this crisis in short order."

Queen Elizabeth wished Johnson a full and speedy recovery and sent a message of support to his pregnant fiancée, Carrie Symonds, and his family.

Raab chaired the government's COVID-19 emergency response meeting on Tuesday, though ministers refused to say who now had ultimate control over Britain's nuclear weapons.

"There are well-developed protocols," said Cabinet Office Minister Michael Gove, who himself went into self-isolation on Tuesday after a family member displayed coronavirus symptoms.

LOCKDOWN TO BE REVIEWED Government scientists see Britain's daily death toll rising until at least April 12, and the government is due to decide early next week whether to start easing a near-total economic and social lockdown.

White House Coronavirus Task Force Recommends Avoiding Grocery Stores, Pharmacies For Next Two weeks

WASHINGTON - The White House Coronavirus Task Force over the weekend urged Americans to avoid going to grocery stores and pharmacies over the next two weeks as the pandemic is expected to worsen across the country.

Dr. Deborah Birx, the White House's task force coordinator, made the warning during a weekend press conference.

"The next two weeks are extraordinarily important," said Birx. "This is the moment to not be going to the grocery store, not going to the pharmacy, but doing everything you can to keep your family and your friends safe and that means everybody doing the 6-feet distancing, washing their hands."

Her remarks were echoed by Dr. Anthony Fauci, the director of the National Institute of Allergy and Infectious Diseases and a member of the task force, who emphasized the importance of social distancing to slow the spread of COVID-19.

"As sobering and a difficult as this is, what we are doing is making a difference," Fau-

But even as Fauci urged Americans to be patient and let mitigation efforts work, Trump said: "Mitigation does work. But again, we're not going to destroy our country."

The previously booming economy had been among Trump's biggest talking points as he heads into the 2020 presidential election, but the past few weeks have seen precipitous drops as the U.S. deals with the fallout from the virus that has shuttered businesses, gutted airlines and forced people into their homes. The number of people infected in the U.S. has exceeded 300,000, with the death toll climbing past 8,400; more than 3,500 of those deaths are in the state of New York. For most people, the virus causes mild or moderate symptoms, such as fever and cough that clear up in two to three weeks. For some, especially older adults and people with existing health problems, it can cause more severe illness, including pneumonia, and death. (Courtesy https://www. fox26houston.com/)

The CARES Act - $2.2 Trillion Tax Relief and Assistance Programs Explained By Guest Writer Stephen Yoe, CPA, Managing Partner Yoe CPA

The legendary economist John Maynard Keynes would be smiling down from heaven with a nod of approval as the US government is putting the biggest government stimulus package to work!

You might wonder how $2 trillion will be injected into the economy to assist the Main Street. Just so you know how it goes below

On March 27, 2020, President Trump signed into law H.R. 748, the Coronavirus Aid, Relief, and Economic Security Act (the CARES Act), following a unanimous 96-0 vote in the US Senate and an approval in the House of Representatives. The $2.2 trillion stimulus and relief assistance to small business and taxpayers will cover the programs as follows:

Economic Injury Disaster Loan (EIDL): Any small business owners can apply for EIDL's emergency advance up to $10,000 of economic relief to help overcome the temporary loss of revenue due to the Covid-19 pandemic. Sole proprietors, independent contractors, self-employed persons, non-profit organizations and veterans organizations can apply for the loan advance which will not have to be repaid if covered for the qualified expenses.

Legendary economist John Maynard

Paycheck Protection Program (PPP): Any existing business prior to Feb 14, 2020 could apply for PPP loan up to 2.5 times the average monthly payroll and allowable expenses, not to exceed $10M. The forgivable expenses are as follows: payroll cost (wages, tips, commission, 1099's for independent contractors, net earnings for self-employed, compensation, health insurance premium, benefits and retirement matching, etc.), rent, utilities (including electricity, water, trash, internet, phone, gas), and mortgage interest (business loans or equipment loans, etc.). The loan will be forgiven if used for the payroll and allowable expenses for the covered period.

•Economic Injury Disaster Loan (EIDL)
•SRA Debt Relief

•SBA Debt Relief
•Emergency Economic Injury Grant

•SBA Express Bridge Loans

Employee Retention Credit (ERC): If business has been partially or fully closed due to orders from governmental authorities limiting commerce, travel or meetings due to Covid-19 and sales/gross receipts were down by 50% or more.

Employer Payroll Tax Deferral: Employers' half of the payroll taxes may be deferred over two years -- 50% due on December 31, 2021 and any remaining half on December 31, 2022.

Paid Sick Leave: Employers receive an immediate dollar-for-dollar tax offset against payroll taxes. The refundable sick leave credit could be calculated at the employee's regular pay rate up to $511 per day for a total of 10 days (or $5,110 in the aggregate). Employees can receive up to 80 hours of paid sick leave and expanded paid child care leave.

Net Operating Losses (NOL): The CARES Act suspends the 80% limitation on NOL and modifies the carryback rules. Business may carryback the NOL to each of the five years preceding the taxable years of such loss.

Qualified Improvement Property (QIP): The Act retroactively amends the major technical correction on qualified leasehold improvements for real estate! Taxpayers can claim 100% bonus depreciation on qualified improvement property.

Retirement Fund Withdrawals: you can tap into your Qualified Retirement Plan for emergency fund or withdraw up to $100K without 10% penalty. You can pay back the withrawals/distributions at any time during the three-year period.

Recovery rebate check: $1,200 for each taxpayer or $2,400 for Married Filing Jointly (MFJ) plus $500 for each qualifying child under age 17. If AGI is higher than $75K for single filer ($150K for MFJ), then the rebate check will be phased out at a rate of $5 per additional $100 above the applicable threshold. The rebate is completely phased out for taxpayers with AGI over $99K or $198K – so no rebate check for you.

Charitable Contributions: Starting in 2020, taxpayer may claim an above-the-line deduction for qualified charitable contribution of up to $300. Taxpayers who do not itemize deductions may nonetheless qualify for the deduction.

If you have a government-backed loan (such as SBA, FHA, VA, etc), you will qualify to request a forbearance up to 180 days to pause the payments. If approved, the payment should be arranged to add the deferred payments toward the end of the mortgage.

Personal Protective Equipment (PPE) are in high demand amid the COVID-19 crisis, so more were just donated to Houston health officials by these community leaders.

HOUSTON. Texas (KTRK) -- US Rep.

Al Green joined Southern News Group CEO and International District Chairman Wea Lee to distribute 10,000 masks to Houston health officials on Saturday afternoon. This donation from Chairman Lee comes as personal protective equipment supplies continue to become more scarce amid the coronavirus pandemic.

"This contribution will help to supplement the shrinking PPE inventory Houston's frontline medical workers and first responders face," said Rep. Green.

An eight-term congressman from Alief, Green has been working with others to provide PPE masks to health officials. Earlier this week, he announced plans to provide 8,000 masks.

"This is not the first time I looked for them," Green said on Sunday. "But this is the first time I've been successful."

The demand for face masks is expected to increase as the CDC has now recommended that the general public should wear masks when leaving home. Earlier this week, a committee with the National Academy of Sciences told the White House that research shows coronavirus can be spread not just by sneezes or coughs, but also just by talking, or possibly even just breathing, according to CNN.

"While the current (coronavirus) specific research is limited, the results of available studies are consistent with aerosolization of virus from normal breathing," according to the letter, written by committee chairman Dr. Harvey Fineberg.

"I'm not going to wear a surgical mask, because clinicians need those," Fineberg told CNN. "But I have a nice western-style bandana I might wear. Or I have a balaclava. I have some pretty nice options." (Courtesy abc13.com) Related

(綜合報導)四艘載著美國液化天然氣 的油輪正在返回中國的途中。這是2019年3 Giant號則是在該州的薩賓通道(Sabine Pass) 月以來美陸之間首次恢復液化天然氣貿易。

船運和貿易圈內人士透露,美陸貿易戰 中,中方把進口美國液化氣的關稅提升到 25%。兩國間的液化氣貿易基本陷入停頓。 最近方面開始豁免部分進口商的關稅,這項 貿易才得以恢復。

美國之音報導,全球金融市場數據提供 商路孚特 (Refinitiv) 和數據情報公司開普勒 (Kpler)最新的追蹤數據顯示,四艘大陸油 輪上個月在美國加滿了液化天然氣(LNG) 。目前油輪正前往大陸

這幾艘大陸油輪預計在4月下旬至5月上 旬抵達中國。消息人士說,其中一艘油輪SK Resolute 號現在已經在前往天津的途中。資料 顯示, SK Resolute 號油輪是在美國路易斯安 那州的卡麥倫液化天然氣廠加註的天然氣
